

Garraghan Berates the Aldermen

Budget, Hall Plans Approved

MAYOR GARRAGHAN
... a tongue lashing

Kingston Common Council passed the 1969 budget last night and approved Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's plans for a new city hall Downtown.

Then it all wound up in a shouting match with the mayor after he had criticized those aldermen who had voted against his proposals.

Garraghan began the fireworks by asking permission to address the Council after it had passed his budget 9-4 and his proposal to buy 3.9 acres of land in Broadway East for $25,000 and hire architect Albert E. Milliken for $10,000 to design the new hall. Both of those measures passed 10-3.

No Thanks

It had been assumed that the mayor was taking the floor to thank the aldermen for passing his legislation. Such was not the case.

Garraghan opened his remarks with, "I defy any alderman to take one item out of that budget. Get on your feet or you're a phony."

Alderman Peter Mancuso (D-12th Ward), who had voted against the budget, said to the mayor in a calm voice, "I wish you would refrain from making degrading remarks."

John Machione (R-Second Ward), another budget opponent, then shouted at the mayor, "I will not be abused on this floor."

Garraghan shouted back, "Name one item. Name one item."

Machione returned to Garraghan's original remark, saying, "You called us phonies. I will not stand for it."

An Apology, A Switch

Garraghan then apologized (to Machione) and switched from the budget to his plans for a city hall Downtown. He told the aldermen that they had only approved the purchase of land and the hiring of an architect. "It may be another administration that erects the building," he said.

Garraghan said it might take six to ten months to draw up the new hall. "I don't know what it's going to look like."

The mayor said he might come back to the Council in "November or December" for a 25-year bond issue. Concerning the cost, Garraghan said, "If it's more than $800,000 I won't have much to do with it."

The aldermen quietly listened to Garraghan's discussion of a new city hall but when he finished Clifford Sinsabaugh (D-10th Ward) took the floor, shouting, "You said publicly that there was fat in the budget. It's your budget. You cut it. We don't have to cut it."

"I am 50 years old," Sinsabaugh said, "and never have I seen a chief executive abuse and humiliate elected officials as you have done here tonight. I demand a public apology. You called me a phony."

Alderman-at-large T. Robert Gallo then allowed that Garraghan had apologized but Sinsabaugh retorted, "He apologized to John Machione. My name isn't John Machione."

Gallo then recessed the meeting for ten minutes. The aldermen caucused and Garraghan left.

Other Business

The Council returned and enacted some new business including approval for the city treasurer to borrow $280,000 in bond anticipation notes; referred a $50,000 law suit by Blanche Belin of 131 Albany Avenue against the city to the corporation counsel (she had fallen in front of the Gov. Clinton Hotel on Nov. 21 and claimed the city was negligent); approved trips for the building department and the laboratory and sent a request for a traffic light from Alderman Donald Quick (D-Sixth Ward) at the corner of Albany Avenue and Wrentham Street to the Traffic Committee.

The Council then had the last word on the mayor. Before adjourning the aldermen approved a motion by Machione to send a letter to Garraghan "reaffirming the dignity of the Common Council and seeking to avoid the release of any statements or innuendoes of derogatory nature."

The meeting was adjourned in memory of John Quimby, president of the Ulster County Community College Board of Trustees, who died Sunday.

Cut State Spending,
Up Sales Tax: Rocky

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller challenged the new legislature today with a plan for a five per cent, across-the-board cut in state spending, coupled with a one per cent increase in the state's sales tax.

The Republican governor had been expected to recommend raising the sales tax from two to three per cent, but the sharp economy slash took the Capitol generally by surprise.

Over the years, many of the lawmakers had complained that Rockefeller was more interested in spending than practicing economy in government.

In his annual "State of State" message today, however, Rockefeller told the lawmakers in effect that they either could accept a sharp cutback in state aid to their home districts or raise taxes beyond levels he deemed prudent.

Sound and Growth . . . But
"Our state's economy is sound and growing," he said, "...but the spending required by law for aid to local government is growing beyond our capacity to meet it."

To close the gap, he recommended raising the sales tax, a step that he estimated would yield $340 million in additional revenue, and cutting five per cent from budget spending recommendations, to save $340 million.

Rockefeller said he could have proposed a 10 per cent cut in spending but that this "would have too harsh consequences."

On the other hand, he said, to raise the $620 million entirely through tax increases "would jeopardize the state's competitive economic position."

Rockefeller said he believed that New York's tax rates already were at a point where, in comparison with other states, any significant increase would discourage expansion of industry and generally undermine the confidence of business.

The governor had been considering a 20 per cent increase in state income taxes, in addition to the sales tax boost, and also had contemplated broadening the sales tax to cover such presently exempt items as food, laundry, dry cleaning and barber and beauty shop services. But both of these ideas were abandoned in favor of the economy route.

He was holding in reserve, however, a plan that would provide an additional $100 million through two revisions in the income tax.

One would do away with the present $10 and $25 "credits" that taxpayers are allowed to subtract from the final amount due. The other would abolish the maximum $300 deduction for life insurance payments — the only variation from conformity with federal deductions.

Sources within the Rockefeller administration said these proposals might be brought forward in the event the legislature did not accept his economy plan in full.

Rockefeller struck his conservative fiscal note against a 10-year record of having raised every major tax on the state's books. He also instituted the sales tax, four years ago.

Last year, all business taxes were increased and new brackets were added to the state income tax with the effect of raising taxes for upper-income taxpayers.

May Appeal to Some

Many of the Republicans who were elected last November, especially in the Assembly, ran on promises to curb state spending and the upward spiral of taxation.

Thus Rockefeller's program was calculated to appeal to that element. But it also was likely to pose serious problems for lawmakers who are under heavy pressure from their home communities to produce more state financial help for local government problems.

The big demand, as Rockefeller pointed out, is for more state aid for education and for welfare programs. Costs of these two programs will be up in the next budget by $650 million, he reported.

The cause of these and other (Continued on Page 16, Col. 4)

Recommend Hurley Mountain Site
For Proposed Ulster County Airport

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The Hurley Mountain site for a county airport meets all the criteria in the recently completed survey and is the only site that satisfies all the requirements for a good air strip location.

These were the conclusions revealed in an interim report on the selection of an airport site compiled by Brinnier and Larios, local professional engineers for the Ulster County Airport Commission. The 29-page report was submitted to the County Legislature by the commission at the organizational meeting of the county board last Monday.

The conclusions in the report note that the Hurley Mountain site has land available for a crosswind runway and can be expanded to satisfy the future requirements of the proposed county airport. The site is within easy access of the major population center, but the cost of construction could be prohibitive.

The Hurley site is situated on the top of Hurley Mountain in the Town of Hurley. It would have an elevation of approximately 700 to 720 feet and would be in the Catskill State Park.

It is the only site where a prime runway can be planned in conjunction with a crosswind runway and not be obstructed in anyway. The site is south of Morgan Hill and situated roughly in an area northwest of the intersection of Route 209 and County Road 8. Eagles Nest Road would be the access road coming from Hurley Mountain Road.

The site is within easy access of the population center, about seven miles from Kingston, using the current access road. There is no noise factor as the site is not in close proximity to developed areas. Land costs should be quite reasonable and there would be no relocation of buildings, road or other structures.

There is also adequate land available for future expansion of airport facilities and airport related activities on the site.

There are some disadvantages which the interim reports lists as follows: There may be grading problems and possible rock excavation which could build up costs of construction; high wind gusts may be encountered as a result of being situated on top of a mountain; the site is within the Catskill State Park, although most of the land is privately owned with only two small parcels owned by the state. An access road must be constructed to the site, and Eagles Nest Road would have to be realigned and improved.

The Galesville site in the Town of Shawangunk is the other. However, the location has a number of disadvantages including poor accessibility with respect to the population center.

The Galesville site is situated near the Walkill River, between the Hoagbergh and Albany Post Roads, and is close to the Orange County border. It is situated northwest of the Village of Wallkill and west of Wallkill Prison.

It is also in close proximity to the Orange County Airport and Stewart Air Force Base. The report said some difficulty may be encountered in securing title of the site from the Federal Government.

The design criteria for airports includes horizontal surface, conical surfaces, obstructions. This criteria would be for an air strip with a runway more than 3,200 feet, but not longer than 6,000 feet in length.

The design criteria for runways under general utility category would accommodate all general aviation needs for planes 12,500 pounds or less maximum gross weight. It will not meet the full requirements of some of the larger reciprocating multi-engine planes or all of the business jets in this weight category.

The length of runway would be a minimum 3,950 feet and maximum of 6,000 feet. The width would be 150 feet. The clear zone, runway end to start, 200 feet; length 1,000 feet; width minimum at start 250 feet; width minimum at end 450 feet.

In the basic utility category an airport accommodates about 95 per cent of the general aviation fleet under 12,500 pounds and meets all general aviation needs except for turbine-powered types, transport types, and a few twin-engine planes over 8,000 pounds gross weight. The length of the runway would have a minimum of 3,300 feet and maximum of 4,200 feet. The width of the runway would be 75 feet.

Population studies indicate that the area surrounding the City of Kingston will continue to increase in population and it will retain its position as the center of industrial and retail development within the county. Because of these factors, the proposed airport should be easily accessible to the Kingston area.

The report notes that there are several small commercial and private air strips operating within the county and the possibility of enlarging one of these was also investigated.

Those under study were Aero Lake at Port Ewen; Kingston-Ulster on Route 32 north of Kingston; Kobelt Airport off Plains Road, Town of Shawangunk; Stanton Airport off Butterville Road, Town of New Paltz; Sages Airport, northeast of Kerhonkson in the Town of Rochester.

Harry C. Kaprelian, chairman of the County Airport Commission emphasized that this is only an interim report listing all the factors and does not indicate that the county has made a choice of site.

HARVARD COED SLAIN — Jane Britton, 23, was found beaten to death in her Cambridge, Mass. apartment. The daughter of a Radcliffe College official, Miss Britton's body was found in the same building that 23-year-old Beverly Samans was found strangled in 1963. Authorities Seek Firebugs
After Blaze in W. Hurley

By SHANE CROSBY

WEST HURLEY — Fire watches by local residents, town, county and state law enforcement agencies to thwart firebug activities here nearly resulted in the capture of two persons at the scene of a house blaze early this morning.

The Russell property on Route 375 near the White Horse Inn, the scene of three suspicious fires in recent months, was again the apparent target of firebugs as flames swept the first floor of the main house.

At least three other major fires and many smaller fires have been placed on the "suspicious nature" list in the West Hurley-Woodstock area.

Sheriff's deputies Roger Lapp and James Milesky were in the immediate area of the property as the alarm sounded at 1:50 a.m.

The two rushed to the house in the house last night, one said.

as firemen from Woodstock reached the burning building. Behind the house, they found two sets of footprints leading towards Witchtree Road.

Together with Constable Charles Wolven of the Woodstock Police, they followed the tracks across the road and into the woods on the left of Rt. 375 toward Route 28. The trail ended on clear pavement on Rt. 375, they said.

A deputy cruised the area looking for a car the two persons might have used, on the chance they were hiding on one of the web-like side lanes, but without success.

Woodstock firemen, along with West Hurley volunteers battled the blaze in the house and said they were able to confine it to the interior.

Firemen remained on the scene until past 6 a.m.

At least four fires were set in the house last night, one said.

The main fire began in the rear of the house near the spot where the footprints were found. The fear of an arsonist working in the area has caused groups to form overnight watches on likely buildings. A system has been developed in the fire cases with most occurring over Tuesday night and Wednesday morning and all happening in unoccupied buildings.

Woodstock firemen also battled a afternoon fire in the top floor of a three-story frame building owned by the Woodstock Post No. 1026 of the American Legion.

They were aided by the Zena Wittenberg and Lake Hill companies. The blaze was contained to two rooms, a section of roof and walls on the top floor.

A bartender, Robert Lewis, smelled smoke shortly after 12 noon and called firemen.

Chief Duncan Wilson of the Woodstock Fire Company said the American Legion fire is believed to have been caused by defective electric wiring.

Hurley Board Reorganizes, Reappoints Schneller Chairman

HURLEY — Hurley Town Board met for an organizational meeting last night at which Supervisor Robert Schneller was reappointed chairman of the board.

The business of the meeting was confined strictly to organizational matters with neither discussion of the proposed airport on Hurley Mountain or any other town matters discussed.

Town Clerk Raymond Crosswell reported that all salaries for town officials are the same as in the 1969 budget with the exception of highway department workers who received a 25-cent hourly increase.

The next regular meeting of the board was set for Jan. 27 at the West Hurley Firehouse. As in the past year, meetings will be held on the fourth Thursday of the month at alternate locations in Hurley and West Hurley.

A change of dumping hours was noted with residents permitted to dump from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. during the winter on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

No new appointments were made. The roster of town officials remains the same: collector, Philip Metzger; assessors, Percy Osterhoudt, Arthur Rice, Schuyler Weidner; superintendent of highways, Winfred Snyder; welfare officer, Ethel Lockwood; Justice of the Peace, Alton Boyce and Edmund Brower; Councilmen George Schroeder, Henry Paul Jr.; constables, C. H. Dumond, Donald Graham and Camille Thibodeau.

Two Public Hearings Thursday in Woodstock

Conservationists Give Proposals After Meeting With Bell, Rolison

Two proposals were advanced by area conservationists who met this past week with Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and Sen. Jay P. Rolison.

At a joint meeting of Ulster and Dutchess County conservationists, planners and district directors, held at the Ulster County Office Building, the legislators were asked to promote bills favorable to the Soil and Water Conservation Districts and to aid in securing matching funds from the state for soil surveys and technician's help.

It was pointed out that in the past similar proposals made by the State Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts were turned down.

At the meeting, which was arranged by County Legislator Freeman Lasher, a district director of the Ulster County Soil and Water Conservation District, attention was given the fact that the local districts have been of great value to individuals and town and county planning boards in aiding them with land development.

District Conservationist Francis E. Mulvaney explained the use of soil surveys in the Ulster District which have provided information to IBM Corporation for the relocation of Boice's Lane, to the Highland School District in their effort to find a suitable school site and to the Saugerties Town Planners who seek to expand Cantine Field.

Assemblyman Bell asked the number of zoning and planning boards working actively in the county and Herbert Heckler, director of the County Planning Board explained that planning and zoning organizations were aligned and often work together.

Sen. Rolison, who is chairman of the State Senate's Navigation and Waterways Committee expressed particular interest in the Hudson River's potential.

Mulvaney explained that 70,000 acres of soil surveys in the county have been completed, the bulk of them finished in 1968 under accelerated soil programs with money appropriated by the Ulster County Legislature. Matching funds will also be available this coming year under the 701 program.

Victor McCord, chairman of the Ulster County Soil and Water Conservation District, conducted the meeting and fields such as feed, $3,816,000; Donald Weaver of the local Agricultural Stabilization Office emphasized the value of meeting which was called to provide for the two legislators included: Vernon H. Barnhardt, Stone Ridge, member of the District Soil and Water Conservation Board; County Legislator Philip H. Davis, County Legislator Frank Miller, Albert B. Cole, of the State Soil and Water Committee, Red Hook; Owen Boyd, associate director, Dutchess County; Don R. Rogers, Dutchess County Cooperative Extension Office; Harold Wright, Dutchess County Soil and Water Conservation District; Joseph Sauer, Saugerties, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Committee and John Porter, District Conservationist, Dutchess County.

No Nuclear Treaty For Johnson Regime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson's one-time base of power—the Senate—has provided him a last and bitter disappointment in the final moments of his public career.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee made official Tuesday what had long been suspected: Despite presidential urgings there will be no immediate action on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Thus the pact, a New Frontier legacy that became for Johnson something of a personal crusade, probably will bear the signature of a Republican president.

There was no immediate comment from the White House. Nor in the waning days of the delicate transition period to a new administration was one expected.

But for Johnson, a wartime leader who had sought to leave this lasting imprint on efforts to ensure peace, there was ample cause for disappointment.

For one thing, there was his personal devotion to getting it through.

This last satisfaction, ironically, was denied him by a Democratic controlled Senate where less than a decade after gaining legendary power as majority leader he faced as President some of the bitterest opposition to his Vietnam War policy.

Some Boards Have Old-Fashioned Town Meetings

By LYNN MULVANEY

Are there any old-fashioned town meetings in Ulster County anymore? Meetings where one and all can come and have their say about anything from road repairs to reassessments? Meetings such as those held in Rosendale where anyone can interrupt, get the floor and express their sentiments?

The answer is yes and no, depending upon the town or village involved.

The free atmosphere in Rosendale allows several things. It enables the boards, without question, to know precisely what is on the citizen's mind — or even that of the highway superintendent or other officials. It allows the citizenry opportunity to suggest, to praise, to put down or to just plain blow off steam.

It also consumes endless amounts of time, talk meanders and meetings often drag on for hours.

Must Secure Permission

On the other hand, in towns such as Hurley, permission to speak must be secured five days before the meeting and only those seeking such permission are able to address the board. In this way the board may keep to its agenda, conducting its business with greater efficiency, the supervisor claims.

Still other towns allow a combination of systems to operate with a special period during the meeting being given over to free discussion.

Is the free-for-all atmosphere more advantageous? Or, are more stricter rules recommended?

The County Legislature conducts its business in a manner similar to that of the State Assembly. Anyone wishing to appear before that body must make known their intention well in advance of the meeting. Either the Legislature itself or the legislator representing them must be notified before permission is granted for a verbal presentation.

Chairman of the Legislature, Peter Savago, feels the system works well and should be carried out at the town and village level as well.

Stressing the fact that it is the business of the Legislature to conduct only the county business, Savago says too often persons allowed the floor without prior permission tend to digress, speak too long or perhaps deal with matters that are outside the county's concern.

Avoid Duplication

Deputy Clerk Frank Fabbie concurs saying that often citizens are not aware that a certain topic has been studied or has been the concern of the Legislature on prior occasions. By seeking permission ahead of time, duplication of effort is avoided.

Clerk of the Board Edward Snyder emphasized that there must be control and that because people today are more educated, they understand that fact.

Interviewing the supervisors and town clerks of all the towns in the county, the Freeman found that there is a wide difference of opinion concerning what procedure is best and which ones are carried out.

In 13 of the 20 towns, any citizen that comes before the board is free to speak without permission prior to the meeting although there are varying degrees of leniency.

Meetings in Wawarsing are "wide open with no strings attached," according to Kenneth Mitchell, town clerk. Asked if he felt the system works out satisfactorily, he answered definitively.

In Shandaken no restrictions are imposed except that a limit is sometimes placed on the length of time a person speaks. An informal atmosphere also exists in Olive where comments from the floor are welcomed although Supervisor Lester Davis acknowledges that "we are fortunate in our town. Some boards find it very difficult to carry out an orderly meeting."

Supervisor Donald Patton of the Town of Kingston says he readily recognizes the floor but qualifies it by adding that when the question posed is a legal one or one requiring immediate board action, the request should be made 10 days before the meeting.

Comments From Floor

Denning, Esopus, Harden-

burgh, Lloyd, Marletown, New Paltz, Rosendale, Saugerties, Shawangunk and Woodstock all allow comments from the floor.

In Saugerties guests are introduced and allowed to speak formally after the clerk's reading of the minutes, but not thereafter except at the conclusion when informal remarks may be made.

In Rosendale, as pointed out previously, verbal exchange is extremely free with interchange between the board, supervisor, clerk and citizens occurring frequently.

During the past year in the Town of Rochester, Supervisor Franklin S. Kelder suggested that persons who wished to bring any matter before the board and have the subject become a part of the minutes, submit their request in writing. The measure passed unanimously.

Open Discussion

Something different takes place in Plattekill. There the order of business consists of the opening of the meeting and reading of correspondence. Then the supervisor recesses the board and anyone wishing to take part in open discussion may do so.

Supervisor George Sisti Jr. says this gives those present opportunity to question the board on any matter.

At the conclusion of the discussion the board is reconvened and completes its business.

Marboro calls for the presentation of subject matter the day before the meeting and in Hurley where free discussion was allowed in the past, the board now requires that permission to speak be sought five days prior to the meeting.

In Gardiner a letter is requested in advance of the meeting but Supervisor George Ma-jestic says the ruling is broken many times.

The Town of Ulster requires that the town clerk or supervisor be called six days before the meeting. In addition the supervisor at the time of the meeting asks for additional comments with the understanding that the board not be required to give immediate answers according to Alma Mac-holdt, town clerk.

Such wide divergence in opinion and practice perhaps points out that no "ideal" solution has been found to suit the personalities of the various towns and their governing bodies. This probably accounts too for the fact that there is no hard and fast rule spelled out in "Town Law" as established by the State of New York. The state holds that it is mainly up to the discretion of the town board to select which ever system seems to tailor its needs the best.

Will Change Rate Group For Phones in Milton

The number of phones in Milton's local calling area has risen to a new high and will soon place that exchange in the next higher telephone rate group.

The charges for local telephone service that will apply in Milton starting Feb. 1 are those for exchanges with 4,000 to 10,000 phones in their calling areas, according to New York Telephone manager George Hibner. Today there are more than 4,300 phones in Milton's calling area—an increase of about 20 per cent in the last five years alone. The calling area includes the exchanges of Highland and Marlboro.

For residence customers the monthly increases will range from 15 cents for a multi-party line to 25 cents for an individual line. For business customers they will range from 25 cents for a multi-party line to $1.75 for a switchboard trunk line. Charges for supplemental items such as extension phones and long distance charges, which have been reduced several times in recent years, will not be affected.

The Feb. 1 change is not related to the telephone company's plan to enlarge local calling areas throughout the Mid-Hudson region, Hibner explained. Monthly charges proposed for an expanded Milton calling area under that plan, which is awaiting completion of public hearings before the Public Service Commission, remain unchanged.

Hibner said telephone rate schedules are based on the principle that the more phones a person can call without paying a toll charge, the greater the value of his local service.

"This principle, applied to exchanges across the state, helps insure that communities with comparable calling areas pay comparable charges for their local service," he said. "The change simply brings monthly charges in Milton into line with those paid by other communities with similar calling areas throughout the state. This is not a general rate increase."

Tariffs listing the new charges have been filed for acceptance by the PSC.

DAY IN COURT—An apprehensive Sirhan B. Sirhan (R), led by one of his attorneys, Russell Parsons, leaves the cell area of the 13th floor of the Hall of Justice in Los Angeles to enter an elevator that took him to the 8th floor and a heavily guarded courtroom where he went on trial Tuesday on charges of assassinating Sen. Robert Kennedy last year. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Grim Scene in Los Angeles

Unusual Start for Sirhan's Trial

By JACK V. FOX
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan's defense team sought today to throw his murder case out of court after a startling opening day demand that his trial for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy be heard by two juries.

The Jordanian immigrant was brought back to the sealed off court room to watch his attorneys make the ritual attempts to get the case suppressed.

The trial had an unusual beginning Tuesday when the defense argued that Sirhan should have two separate juries—one to decide his guilt or innocence and another to decide the penalty.

Superior Court Judge Herbert Walker quickly denied the motion by flamboyant Grant Cooper, chief defense counsel for the 24-year-old Arab.

The request for two juries was permissible because California law divides determination of guilt and death penalty hearings into two separate proceedings. However, in most cases one jury is used for both.

Grim Scene
It was a grim setting in the small court room Tuesday, and the tiny Sirhan seemed to grow smaller in his leather chair as he listened to the judge speak in a gravel-toned voice of the possibility of death in the gas chamber.

Constantly watched by two six-foot deputies, Sirhan spoke not a word during the 90-minute session which ran into a snarl of defense motions.

After a session of more than an hour at the trial's outset behind the closed door of Walker's chambers, at which the judge was believed to have refused a 30-day continuance, Cooper sprang his jury proposal.

Deputy District Attorney Lynn Compton objected that the trial should be conducted in a normal manner and Walker, an owl-faced man with white, bushy eyebrows, agreed.

Walker also denied a second defense motion that prospective jurors be given certain basic questions of qualification in a written form to speed up selection of 12 regular and six alternate jurors.

Smiles at Mother
Sirhan, neatly dressed in a light blue suit and blue tie, smiled faintly at his mother, Mary, who sat in the rear row of the court with his brother, Munir, squeezed in among newsmen from all over the world. Cooper had two other motions ready for the afternoon session today.

He sought to quash the indictment on grounds the pool of prospective jurors was selected unconstitutionally because it barred certain occupations such as lawyers, doctors and nurses. Another contended the grand jury which indicted Sirhan was unconstitutional because it did not contain certain minority groups.

Cooper told newsmen after the session that the defense would not deny that Sirhan killed Kennedy. He said it would be "silly" to do so when dozens witnessed the fatal wounding of the New York senator June 5 in the Ambassador Hotel.

Cooper said today's college students are no more promiscuous than their parents were. They just think they are.

"In a recent preview of the

"For example, although 75 per cent of college girls express they believe that their classmates are sleeping around, surveys and research studies consistently point out that only 20 per cent of all college girls

Acheson on Cuba: Lucky JFK Gamble

By DONALD H. MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dean Acheson says President John F. Kennedy gambled "to the point of recklessness" in the 1962 Cuban missile crisis and won partly because he was "phenomenally lucky."

While Robert F. Kennedy had praised the free-flowing discussion process among presidential advisers during the crisis, Acheson said it was "repetitive, leaderless, and a waste of time."

Acheson, President Harry S. Truman's Secretary of State, who was called in as an adviser during the crisis, commented on what took place in an article in Esquire Magazine released Tuesday.

The article was in reply to an account of the crisis written by Robert Kennedy before his death and published last October.

Emotional Response

"Sen. Kennedy seemed at the time—a view strengthened by his account—to have been moved by emotional or intuitive responses more than by the trained lawyer's analysis of the dangers threatened and of the relevance to these of various actions proposed," Kennedy was then attorney general.

In the article Acheson says he repeats the arguments he made in the inner councils of the administration during the days of crisis. He said he opposed the naval blockade which the administration adopted and advocated instead air strikes against Soviet offensive missile bases in Cuba.

"As I saw it at the time, and still believe," Acheson wrote, "The decision to resort to blockade was a decision to postpone the issue at the expense of time within which the nuclear weapons might be made operable." During this time, he said, Russian offensive missiles in Cuba could have become operational.

Robert Kennedy, he said, took the position that air strikes would be "a Pearl Harbor in reverse." Acheson calls this a "thoroughly false and pejorative analogy." He said the Japanese attacked the United States without warning, thousands of miles from their shores, whereas the Russians were installing 90 miles from Florida a capability to destroy much of the United States.

Tough Note

Writing of the moment when President Kennedy discarded a tough note from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and answered instead a confused Khrushchev message which seemed to contain seeds of a settlement, Acheson said: "It was a gamble to the point of recklessness, but skillfully executed, with ideas contributed by Robert Kennedy."

Later, Acheson said, he wrote President Kennedy and congratulated him on getting through the crisis. Acheson added: "It does not detract from the sincerity of this message to add that I also thought he had been phenomenally lucky."

At another point Acheson said: "It does not detract from President Kennedy's laurels in handling the Cuban crisis that he was helped by the luck of Khrushchev's befuddlement and loss of nerve. The fact was that he succeeded."

Need Sex Advice? - Don't Ask Your Doctor

By CAROLE W. EBERLEY

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)

People with sexual hangups usually turn first to their doctors for advice. That's a grave error, says a New York City obstetrician, because "most physicians are sexual cripples."

"The average physician is not free enough from his own hangups to counsel in sex problems," Dr. Selig B. Neubardt Tuesday told Michigan State University's seven week seminar on "Sexuality — A Search for Perspective."

Neubardt, a guest lecturer, said doctors are normally the first place people turn for sexual advice. Its usually the worst place they could go.

He said that until recently, medical courses contained no instruction on sex, leaving doctors unequipped to counsel patients with sex problems.

"And a lot of good doctors are troubled by this," he said. "They want to help but they don't know how."

A psychology professor from the University of Houston said Tuesday Americans mistakenly believe college students are more promiscuous these days because of increased emphasis on sex in newspapers, books and magazines.

"For example, although 75 per cent of college girls express they believe that their classmates are sleeping around, surveys and research studies consistently point out that only 20 per cent of all college girls experience premarital intercourse," said James K. McCary.

McCary said today's college students are no more promiscuous than their parents were. They just think they are.

APR 222

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 8, 1969

No Tax on Food

Governor Rockefeller and his fiscal advisers are said to be considering boosting the state's sales tax from two to three per cent and extending the tax to include food. Because of the problem of the budget—now expected to climb to about $7 billion—the governor needs more money, which must come from the people since this is the only source of revenue. But does this money have to come disproportionately from the wage earner with the family?

Including food in this growing sales tax would be oppressive and discriminatory against large families. In fact they would be penalized for having children. Even those on public welfare rolls would pay, since there is no way of distinguishing them from anyone else when they go to the store to purchase food.

If the state were to place a three per cent sales tax on food, Ulster County would have to include food in its two per cent sales tax, which the Legislators are expected to enact next month. This would mean a five per cent imposition on food along with other items and services for the bread earner to meet.

Before the Governor and his financial experts resort to this expediency, the Legislators should let it be known they will have no part of it. We trust our local Legislators will have the courage to take this stand.

What about next year? Will there be another hike in the sales tax? Is the sales tax to become a way of life in Albany?

Another tax proposal being considered in broadening the state tax base is an increase in the income tax and abolishing the $25 and $10 "tax credits" and the deduction of life insurance payments of $300 maximum.

The decision for the lawmakers to make is how proportionate the new taxes will be. The income tax increase would be more equitable. The wage earner with the large family would pay less by comparison than the like wage earner who has fewer or no dependents.

With all these new tax imposts year after year, it should be obvious to taxpayers that if they persist in their demands for government spending, they will have to pay higher and higher taxes since it is the people who pay the taxes to finance that spending. Instead, they should be offering practical suggestions for economy that would stop enlarging the social action programs.

The rising tide of welfare costs are reflected in the unbalanced state budget. New York is plagued with the influx of indigents from Southern states who move to the North for only one purpose: to get higher welfare payments. Payments should be made the same in all states.

Our local Legislators should take the lead for a complete revision of the state's taxation structure at this session of the Legislature. It is of vital importance to the people and to the business interests of the Empire State.

As a result of a Defense Department drive in mid-1967, 926,000 rental units have been opened to servicemen of all races. Only 245,000 were available when the Pentagon first made a national census of housing areas around military bases. Any man who fights for us deserves our respect and gratitude. Concessions are still too few.

On all U. S. cars manufactured after New Year's eve, head rests are required. The head rest requirement is necessary because there are four million rear-end crashes in the U. S. each year, with resulting whiplash neck injuries, the most painful of all. Owners of old cars would do well to imitate and use this preventative measure.

"Well, at Least, Now He Can Fight Back!"

David Lawrence Says

Substantial Pay Raises For President, Congress

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — The Congress, cabinet officers and federal judges are going to get substantial pay raises, but what the net increase will be is another story. Uncle Sam will take back a good portion in taxes, and leave a relatively small addition to income.

Thus, the President's salary, which since 1949 has been 100,000 dollars a year, is going to be 200,000 dollars, according to the recommendations of a commission set up by Congress. But the net amount a president will have available after paying federal income taxes on 200,000 dollars will be around 86,000 dollars. Most of the executives of America's big corporations have far more net income than this, because their salaries are much larger.

As for members of Congress, they are to have their salaries raised from 30,000 to 50,000 dollars, but the net income after taxes will be only 33,500 dollars.

Likewise, cabinet officers, who are scheduled for an increase from 35,000 to 60,000 dollars, will have a net income of only 38,000 dollars.

District judges, whose pay will be raised from 30,000 to 47,500 dollars, will net only 32,000 dollars.

The salaries of Supreme Court justices will be raised from 39,500 to 65,000 dollars, but the net income will be only a little more than 40,000 dollars. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is being given an increase from 40,000 to 67,500 dollars, yet he will have left less than 42,000 dollars a year.

Congress, of course, furnishes money for various expenses incurred by its members in connection with their duties, but the allowances are for specific purposes, such as postage, phone calls, stationery, and travel to home districts. This gives a great deal, though senators and representatives, especially from populous states, find they have to provide out of their own pockets money for many expenses which are not reimbursed. They feel obliged to go to their states or districts more frequently than the number of trips covered by the transportation allowance. They also have to carry on such a large volume of correspondence with their constituents that they must dip into their own funds to pay for it.

Aside from the expenses of members of Congress, cabinet officers and the President and Vice President, the actual salary remaining may seem to some people of medium or lower incomes as a very high amount. What is overlooked is that many public officials must maintain homes in their own states as well as living quarters in Washington for at least a part of their family.

If the amount of money received in 1969 by officials is measured in terms of what the dollar buys now in contrast with what it did in 1949, when the present salary schedule was adopted, it will be found that the increases being given have largely been eaten up by the higher costs of nearly everything the consumer buys today. The dollar has shrunk in value to about 50 cents in comparison to what it was in 1949.

When all the figures are carefully studied, it is apparent why many of the capable men throughout the country are reluctant to take positions in Washington unless they have personal fortunes from which to derive additional income. If an executive is making substantial progress in a private company nowadays, he can expect to receive a large income even after he retires at 65 years of age. Many of the people in this group who are in their forties and fifties cannot afford to detach themselves from all the "fringe" benefits of private business and go into public life. This automatically excludes from public service lots of able men and women.

So it must be concluded that the American people are not paying their public servants enough. Certainly the President of the United States, who administers the biggest single "business" in the world, ought to get at least as much as the president of General Motors or other large corporations. An annual salary of 300,000 to 400,000 dollars is not unusual, and this is supplemented by other benefits that run the figure much higher. It means in many instances a compensation which is more than twice the 200,000 dollars now being voted by Congress for the Chief executive. (Copyright, 1969, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

Drew Pearson Says

Public Pressures Have Started For Congressional Reform

WASHINGTON — The House decision against the magic moment of adjournment sine die. Senator after Senator rises, and, in the unreal insulation that envelopes that body, looks back on what was really just another year of broken promises, unmet emergencies, sabotaged agendas, farcical investigations, and fiscal shortages, and hails that year as a triumph of bipartisan statesmanship, saluting his colleagues as worthy successors to the founding fathers.

Here are the pressures: Pressure No. 1 — The situation will release a study shortly which will throw a revealing spotlight on the nature of the conflicts and corruption that Congress tolerates. The examples of Congressional practices cited in the study should cause a new wave of outrage from the press and public.

Pressure No. 2 — The Newspaper Editors and the Freedom of Information Center, working together, got responses from 371 Congressional candidates in favor of greater financial disclosure and open hearings. Of these candidates, 165 were elected and are now committed to vote for these reforms. Eighty per cent, for example, pledged that they would "support legislation requiring full disclosure of financial interests" of members of Congress.

Pressure No. 3 — The book "The Case Against Congress" has been adopted as a text by several women's and students' groups, which have started a grass-roots campaign for Congressional reforms. This is new evidence that the public is fed up with corruption on Capitol Hill.

Pressure No. 4 — Newspapers, magazines, and radio-TV stations are keeping the heat on Congress to adopt reforms. The prestigious New York Times and influential Washington Post have been running regular editorials on the subject.

A devastating indictment of Congress by Sen. Dodd's former assistant, James Boyd, who spent 12 years on Capitol Hill, is published in the January issue of the Washingtonian. Wrote Boyd:

"I have attended many final sessions of the Senate, waiting for the magic moment of adjournment sine die. Senator after Senator rises, and, in the unreal insulation that envelopes that body, looks back on what was really just another year of broken promises, unmet emergencies, sabotaged agendas, farcical investigations, and fiscal shortages, and hails that year as a triumph of bipartisan statesmanship, saluting his colleagues as worthy successors to the founding fathers."

"The Congress is the conspicuous failure of the federal system; that's what ought to be said. The Congress is foundering in a virtual morass of incompetence, of pettiness, of parochialism, of moral obtuseness, of procedural and institutional atrophy. "Arm in arm with the thousand lobbyists who pay the campaign bills, Congress has presided over the pollution of our streams, the putrefaction of our air, the collapse of our cities, the anarchy of our transportation system, the cannibalization of our labor relations, the enmeshment of our minorities, the watering of our currency, the theft of our national resources."

It will take continued public pressure to assure that Congressional reforms don't die, but at least they have started.

Revolt of Youth
Another oldster besides Speaker McCormack came under fire at the closed-door meeting of the Democratic study group just before last week's Democratic caucus. He was 82-year-old Rep. Mike Kirwan of Ohio. Reps. Thomas Rees, Calif., James Scheuer, N.Y., and Brock Adams, Wash., demanded that the Congressional campaign committee, which Kirwan heads, be reorganized.

"Young Democratic liberals are not getting enough help from Kirwan in their reelection," said Rees, who may run for mayor of Los Angeles. "Mike does out most of the money to his friends. Also, he isn't raising enough money for the party. The Committee should be reorganized. More study group members should be added and the staff should be increased to make it more efficient and representative of the party."

Rees added that his comments should not be interpreted as a "personal attack" on Kirwan, but Rep. William Hungate, D-Mo., interrupted: "I have nothing personal against Mike either. But if we keep worrying about hurting people's feelings, Democrats may lose control of the House."

Speaker McCormack and Majority Leader Carl Albert, Okla., took the hint and agreed to a recomposition of the committee. The spirit of reform was in the air.

Blocking Debate
Another oldster, Rep. William Colmer, Miss., 78, who as czar of the House Rules Committee can block bills, engaged in some further blocking at the caucus. He blocked an effort by Tom Rees to amend the House rules without even giving Rees a chance to explain his amendment.

"I move the previous question," shouted Colmer while Rees was seeking recognition. This is a well-worn parliamentary maneuver, which precludes amendments during debate. Colmer, who was handling the package resolution on House rules, had the floor at the time.

Rep. James Howard, N.J., later took the floor to denounce the tactic.

"If the establishment in the Democratic party prevents members from even offering amendment to the House rules, we are going to be in tough shape in the 91st Congress," he said. "I now have the floor and would like to ask the gentleman from California to explain the amendment he was unable to offer," continued Howard.

"It was a simple one, requiring that amendments to legislation before the House which have 25 words or more be printed, so that members can clearly understand them," replied Rees.

"The point at issue isn't so much the substance of what the gentlemen offered, or tried to offer, but that the leadership prevented him from offering it," snapped Howard. "That doesn't augur well for the Democratic party."

What Course in Shrinking World?

Man's Very Survival at Stake

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — President-elect Richard Nixon's preinaugural policy discussions in Florida and New York have a conventional air about them, even as they treat of new ways to approach the critical foreign and domestic issues facing this country.

Probably there is no help for that, nor even anything wrong with it, since there has to be a beginning. But 1969 and the years beyond promise to be most unconventional.

The cues to this prospect are many and diverse, and tend generally to lie well beneath the surface of the obviously exciting news like the flight to the moon of Apollo 8 and the release of the Pueblo crew.

Somes of these cues:

Not long before Apollo 8 lifted off, a college student who seemed to suffer none of the painfully conforming "nonconformism" of today's antiestablishment youth reported at length that a summer spent at professional surveying in U.S. suburban homes left him with a strong impression that most housewives lead incredibly shallow, empty lives amid their seeming affluence.

Even if his account should be only partly true, it stands as a severe indictment of the quality of living among people who are presumed to be fairly well-off and free to take the fruits and meet the challenges of our "advanced" civilization.

Perhaps these women, and many of the husbands who also were encountered in the young man's survey, were stirred by Apollo 8 as it explored the reaches of outer space. But they seemed singularly unmoved by anything at all.

Meantime, behind the blazing excitement of the moon flight, some scientists are quietly talking of both new and old things relating to what might be called the frontiers of inner space — the molding and working of the human brain, the interrelationships among human beings, the way these may be affected by the explosion of human numbers here and around the globe.

Already well-reported, though too little noticed, are findings that malnutrition can be crucially and permanently crippling to the brains of children in their formative first, three or four years. Thereafter, no matter what skill and energy is devoted to the educative process, the results will be limited and the affected individuals doomed forever to constricted achievement.

Now comes another scientist, Dr. Robert Livingston of the University of California at Los Angeles, to tell us that in both the physiological and the cultural sense the young brain has key "set periods" at the ages of four and 12.

The brain doubles in size in the first six months of life, and doubles again by the age of four — by which time, says Livingston, "people become embedded in language and culture." Within the next eight years, a kind of final set takes place, and after the 12th year the brain, and hence the individual's whole make-up and promise of development, has a fairly rigid cast from which it is very hard to break out.

What does all this mean for us?

For one thing, it puts in a strangely distorted perspective the terrible racial and other wrangling which is currently tearing many of the nation's schools apart. While adults and youngsters battle over who should control schools and what is taught, we are discovering that what happens to young brains before they are ever exposed to formal schooling may make that schooling — for thousands, if not millions — of limited usefulness and the fighting over it dangerously irrelevant.

Moreover, a key finding by Livingston is that the brain, in its formative physiological and cultural years, becomes so totally individualized that it is literally true that no two people see and hear and hence respond to outside experiences in the same way. Everyone truly sees the world differently from every other man.

In an age when we are being engulfed by human numbers and scientists are suggesting from animal experiments that human beings may inevitably become either more combative toward others or more indifferent to them in the crowding condition, we clearly need desperately a spirit of tolerance and accommodation if we are to live peacefully within and between nations.

We have, in effect, just heard from Livingston that this need is enhanced a billion-fold by our new awareness of the deepest, early-formed, incredibly far-ranging differences among people in their perceptions and reactions to the world. Nixon rides into office in the aftermath of a great flight to the outer frontiers. But his and the American people's real test is on the frontier of inner human space, ever more crowded, where men must learn to live with understanding before they crush themselves in fury and ignorance.

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

Jan. 8, 1949 — A special program was planned for the observance of the 100th anniversary of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

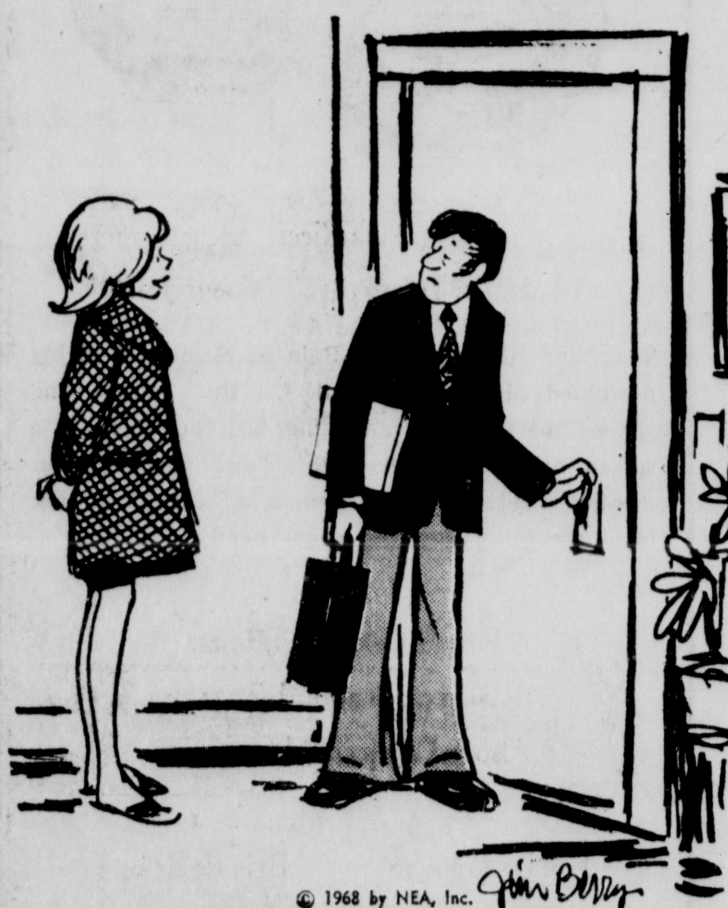

William A. Kelly was elected president of the Wiltwyck Hose Company.

An overnight low of 36-degrees was recorded in the city.

Jan. 8, 1959 — Twenty-five former rural school trustees were retained by an overwhelming vote to serve with 25 city representatives as a new school consolidation advisory committee at a meeting held in the Lake Katrine School.

Work on the city side of the arterial route project was not expected to start before the summer, it was disclosed.

weapons might well serve that Russian aim.)

Data now becoming available to Soviet watchers indicates the Soviet Union may have paid a heavy economic price for her invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet Union mobilized so many men and so much transport from civilian life that the distribution of raw materials and goods was hampered. Industrial production was thereby also put under a strain.

This setback would not have been important by itself. But the Soviet economy is already under a strain because of Moscow's attempt to catch up with the United States in nuclear and conventional weapons and simultaneously try to outdo the United States in space.

With roughly half the U.S. gross national product, the Soviet Union is now believed to be spending more on space than the United States. Her military expenditures are believed to be roughly as great as U.S. spending, exclusive of Vietnam.

Much of Soviet industry is obsolete or obsolescent, some unbelievably so. Russia is seriously short of capacity in the chemical-fertilizer, petroleum, construction and electronics industries. In the decade ahead, the Soviet Union must spend large sums on roads, railroads and air routes. The modernization and expansion will require huge sums.

The Russian managerial class is demanding more in consumer goods and more quality. The pressure is great.

Russia is not on the verge of an economic collapse. The country is expanding economically at a steady pace. But between the four forces — military, space, industrial buildup and consumer goods — something must give.

For political reasons it doesn't appear likely that consumer goods production can be cut much below present levels. An increase is likely. The Soviet Union is committed to space for military and propaganda reasons. A major holdback in industrial expansion would have serious repercussions a number of years from now. Moscow is committed to aiding revolutions: much of its international weight rests on its military power. The Kremlin is faced with some very difficult decisions. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Oppose 'Negative Income Tax'

Public Votes on Two Key Welfare Plans Facing New Administration

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J., Jan. 4 — When Richard Nixon and Robert Finch, new head of Health, Education and Welfare, take office two weeks from now, one of the most difficult problems facing them will be welfare costs and policies.

The new administration at some point will have to make decisions on two proposals: (1) a guaranteed annual income plan and; (2) a guaranteed annual work plan.

The guaranteed annual income plan, sometimes referred to as a "negative income tax," is designed to establish for all families of the nation a minimum income of $3200 a year (for a family of four).

Includes 'Work Incentive'
If a family earns less than $3200, the U.S. Treasury would make up the difference. The plan, as typically presented, includes a "work incentive" feature, giving families included in the plan 50 per cent of amounts earned over this.

The plan has been endorsed by 1200 economists representing some 150 colleges and universities, and by a group of leading business men appointed to look into the matter by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Guaranteed Work Plan
The second proposal is to guarantee enough work each week for all employable wage earners to bring their family income to about $60 a week or $3200 a year. Workers would be paid at standard rates of pay for the work assigned to them. When these two plans were presented to a carefully selected sample of the public in mid-December, the guaranteed annual income plan was voted down, but the guaranteed annual work plan won overwhelming approval.

Thirty-two per cent of all persons interviewed favor the guaranteed income plan. A slightly greater proportion, 36 per cent, did so in June. Seventy-nine per cent today like the guaranteed work plan — 78 per cent favored it in the earlier survey.

The findings reveal sympathy for the underprivileged, but also a strong conviction that people ought not to get "something for nothing."

Persons in lower income brackets are more likely to support the guaranteed minimum income plan than are persons in higher income brackets. But a significant fact brought to light is that an overwhelming majority of persons in all income levels (and of both races) support a plan guaranteeing work rather than money.

A majority of rank-and-file Republicans and Democrats alike oppose a guaranteed annual income but overwhelmingly support guaranteed work.

A majority of non-whites favor the income plan, but an even greater majority support the work plan.

1501 Adults Interviewed
A total of 1501 adults were interviewed in person in over 300 localities across the nation. The guaranteed minimum income plan was presented first: "As you may know, there is talk about guaranteeing every family an income of at least $3200 a year, which would be the amount for a family of four. If the family earns less than this, the government would make up the difference. Would you favor or oppose such a plan?"

The national totals and the findings based on race and family income:

Guaranteed Minimum Income Plan

	Favor	Oppose	Opinion
National	32	62	6
Whites	29	65	6
Non-whites	73	18	6

Annual Family Income	Favor	Oppose	Opinion
$10,000 & over	24	72	4
$7,000 to $9,999	32	63	5
$5,000 to $6,999	33	62	5
$3,000 to $4,999	40	54	6
Under $3,000	43	44	13

All persons in the survey were next asked about a guaranteed annual work plan:

"Another proposal is to guarantee enough WORK so that each family that has an employable wage earner would be guaranteed enough work each week to give him a wage of about $60 a week or $3200 a year. Would you favor or oppose such a plan?"

Here are the national results by race and income level:

	Favor	Oppose	Opinion
National	79	16	5
Whites	78	17	5
Non-whites	88	8	4

Annual Family Income	Favor	Oppose	Opinion
$10,000 & over	76	22	2
$7,000 to $9,999	82	15	3
$5,000 to $6,999	81	14	5
$3,000 to $4,999	77	17	6
Under $3,000	77	11	12

McCarthy May Have Been Biggest Loser

WASHINGTON — The biggest loser in the Senate leadership fight may have been Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota. For almost a year the shining knight of the young, the idealistic and the reform-minded, McCarthy is today a fallen idol.

Despite the pleas of his former backers, he voted against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts in the dramatic struggle for new Senate leadership.

In the view of those who know him well, McCarthy simply couldn't swallow the bitterness he has felt against the Kennedy family for years.

The bitterness reached a peak last spring, when the late Sen. Robert Kennedy jumped into the presidential race after McCarthy had paved the way in the New Hampshire primary.

McCarthy's lone-wolf attitude during most of the presidential campaign, when he refused to support Hubert Humphrey until a few days before the election, disappointed and disillusioned many of his enthusiasts.

His vote against Kennedy probably finished the job.

A noted columnist, formerly famous for her worship of McCarthy, was planning to sink her pen into his hide. Cartoonists are preparing satiric sketches.

McCarthy supporters around the county swamped their hero in the last few days with pleas for him to support Kennedy.

A group of ex-McCarthyites was planning to buy a full-page ad in the New York Times beseeching him to relent.

McCarthy sent word to them to cancel the ad. He said his mind was made up, and he was going to inform Kennedy of his decision personally.

At McCarthy's invitation, Kennedy called on him to his Senate office late Thursday afternoon.

McCarthy put his arm on Kennedy's shoulder and declared: "I'm not with you."

His explanation was that he wanted wholesale reform of the Democratic party and Kennedy's election would only be a token reform.

Veterans Hoaxed Over Dividends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration said thousands of veterans have been "cruelly deceived" by a false rumor concerning a special dividend on GI insurance.
The VA said there is no special dividend and regular 1969 dividends will be automatically paid to those holding policies in force.
A VA statement said there has been "a deluge of applications from thousands of World War II veterans who have been cruelly deceived by an erroneous rumor of a special dividend on World War II VA insurance policies."
The VA said the applications may end after the rumored Jan. 15 deadline, but officials feared that some veterans "still may entertain the false hope that they are in for an insurance dividend windfall."
"They are not."
"According to the hoax which has swept the nation," the VA said, "Congress recently passed legislation authorizing payment of 50 cents a month for each $1,000 of World War II GI insurance carried, to those who applied before Jan. 15."
"The fact is that Congress has passed no such law."
"Moreover," the VA statement continued, "insurance dividends paid by the VA are the result of savings and earnings on GI insurance trust funds and not the result of congressional legislation."
"A 1969 dividend will be paid, but only to those 185,000 World War I veterans and 4,100,005 World War II veterans."
"No application for this dividend is necessary, since it will be paid automatically on the anniversary date of the policy."
Spokesman said they had no idea how the rumor got started.

Navy OKs Civil Service Review Over Action Against Civilian

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has agreed to a Civil Service Commission review of disciplinary action taken against a civilian employee who triggered public disclosure of massive thefts of U.S. military fuel supplies in Thailand.

Sen. William Proxmire, who earlier asked for such a review, announced the Navy's action today. He had complained that the service had retaliated against John McGee, the civilian inspector who first tipped him to the thefts of the oil supplies.

Proxmire also said he will insist the civilian heads of the Navy and Air Force give close personal consideration to the cases of McGee and A. E. Fitzgerald, an Air Force management expert who testified that production of an Air Force transport will cost $2 billion more than official estimates.

Both men, Proxmire said, "appear to have been penalized for doing their jobs too well."

McGee said he was abruptly transferred from his assignment in Bangkok, assigned to a make-work job in Virginia and denied a customary in-grade pay increase after he said he complained that official laxity was allowing widespread fuel thefts to go unchecked.

A General Accounting Office report said at least 5.5 million gallons of fuels and lubricants were stolen in 1967 alone. Investigators blamed bribery, forestry and government laxity for the thefts. They said they had no way of estimating the total volume and value of the stolen petroleum.

Fitzgerald, a deputy for Air Force management systems, get, said that 12 days after he testified before Proxmire's government economy subcommittee he was told he had incorrectly been given career tenure due to "computer error."

"The coincidence of a misprogrammed computer just happening to make a one-in-ten-thousand mistake against one of the rare Pentagon officials with the guts to tell a congressional committee that the Pentagon is spending too much, is about as likely as the joint chiefs of staff pleading for a big cut in the military budget," Proxmire said.

"I will find it difficult, as I am sure the general public will, to reach any conclusion other than Mr. Fitzgerald's plight resulted from his testimony before my subcommittee," Proxmire said.

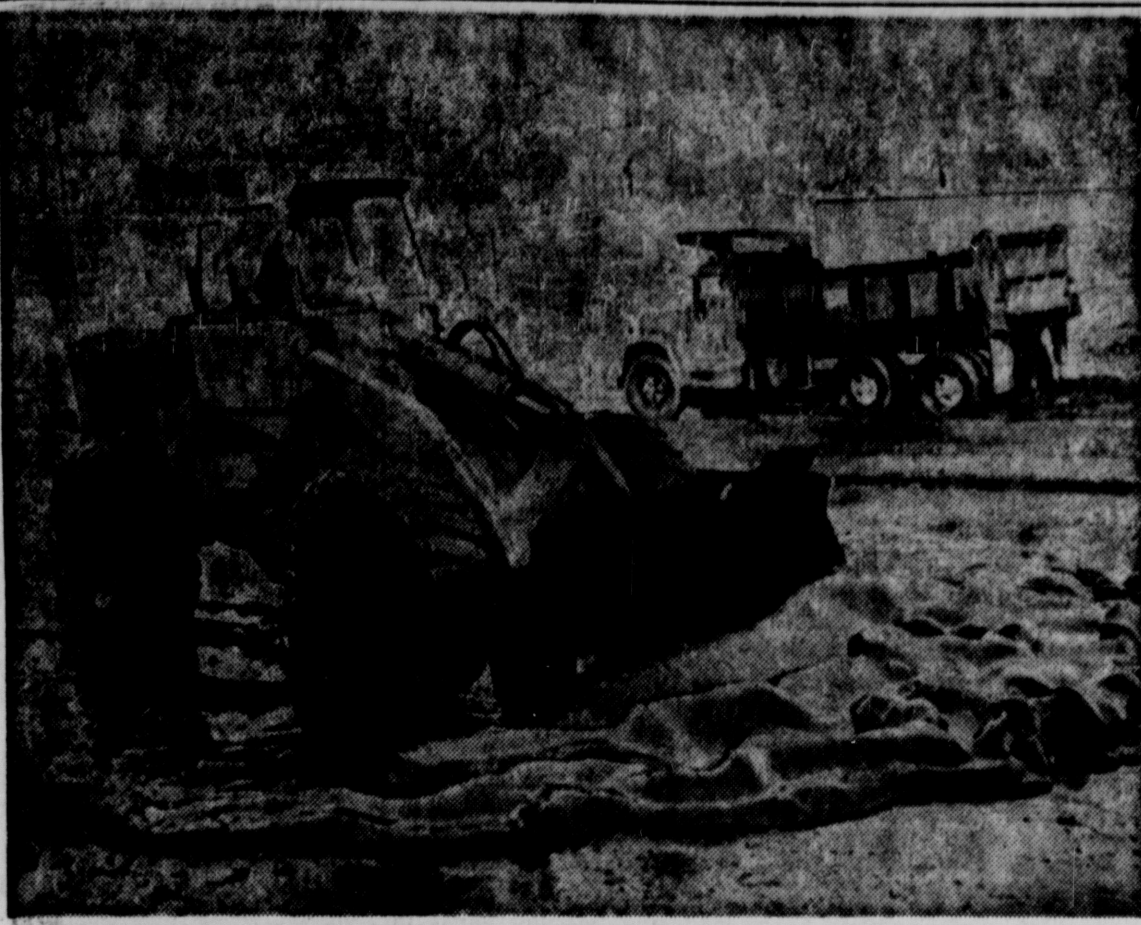

The career-tenure designation gives a government employee Civil Service protection against arbitrary termination such as often effects appointed officials at the change of a presidential administration.

Fitzgerald's testimony concerned what he said are increasing costs in the production of the C5 jet transport being STICKY GOING — The old saying, "slower than molasses in January" is being proved out by workmen at the Port of Albany. One man was killed on Dec. 20 when a huge tank ruptured spilling hundreds of thousands of gallons of the sticky stuff over a large area of the Port. Now Port officials are trying to load the molasses into trucks to be taken away and buried. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Demo Leaders Begin Drawing Battle Lines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders—while not reneging on pledges of cooperation to Richard M. Nixon—are making preparations that could mean a short honey moon for the new president.

The House Education and Labor Committee drew unmistakable battle lines in three areas Tuesday with introduction of a whopping $14-billion school construction bill and measures to continue President Johnson's antipoverty and school aid programs.

On the Senate side, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced he is broadening the scope of the Democratic Policy Committee as a step toward offering party alternatives to Nixon programs.

Indications so far from Nixon Cabinet members and Republican congressional leaders have been that the new GOP administration would concentrate after Jan. 20 on trying wherever possible to improve already existing programs while careful studies are made of any new legislation.

In the House, Education and Labor Chairman Carl D. Perkins' early trip to the hopper may signal a strategy of pushing popular, but costly, programs to force the Republicans to oppose or trim them.

Perkins' school construction bill calls for annual expenditures of about $2.8 billion for five years to help build elementary and secondary schools.

The money would go to school districts on the basis of the number of pupils they have from low-income families—the same formula used in the Johnson school program, which stresses teaching and classroom programs rather than construction.

The bill calling for a five-year extension of the antipoverty program also runs counter to the new administration's plans to study the operation of the program and, perhaps, eliminate some of it or transfer parts to other agencies.

LBJ's Violence Commission Slated to Give Mild Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's violence commission will send him a report this week reportedly much milder than earlier staff findings blaming Chicago police for "rioting" against antiwar demonstrators during the Democratic National Convention.

The report, marking the halfway point in the commission's searching probe of violence in America, is a summary of progress made since Johnson appointed the panel last June.

It touches the full range of domestic violence, from assassinations to alley brawls, but makes no direct mention of the June slaying of Sen. Robert F.

Kennedy—the act that prompted Johnson to name it.

Contents of the report are being kept confidential until the White House releases it. But one source called it "gentle," and said it concentrates primarily on cataloging the commission's progress in various studies rather than on the underlying reasons for American violence.

A staff report, submitted last month to the full commission by Chicago lawyer Daniel Walker and released without comment, contended that a "police riot" figured in the bloody confrontations between police and antiwar demonstrators during the Democratic convention.

The final, fuller report will be delivered in June after Richard M. Nixon's administration takes over.

Johnson named the blue-ribbon panel after Kennedy was shot in Los Angeles June 5 and asked it "to undertake a penetrating search" of violence in the nation.

Dutchess Man Faces Charge Of Arson 2nd

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Donald G. Yearons, 21, of nearby Beacon, has been charged with second-degree arson in a fire last month that caused an estimated $125.0 in damage.

The fire Dec. 23 destroyed a barn complex at LaGrange. Yearons was arrested Tuesday and held in Dutchess County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bail.

Authorized volunteers will carry identification bearing the signature of the chairman, she said.

HEART LEADERS—Key workers for the 1969 Heart Fund campaign are (L) Arthur Chipp, campaign chairman and Jenner Kittle, fund treasurer. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Two Key Heart Posts Are Filled

The appointment of two persons to fill key posts in the 1969 Heart Fund drive was announced today by Arthur C. Chipp, chairman of the annual campaign for the Mid-Hudson William D. Brinnier, Sauger-Hart Association.

UCCC Receives $3,400 Grant For Law Enforcement Course

Ulster County Community College has received a $3,400 grant from the federal government for student aid under a Law Enforcement Education program, Dr. George B. Erbstein, president, announced today.

The grant, received from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the United States Department of Justice, was given under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 and is a part of a massive law enforcement improvement effort.

Dr. Erbstein said local law enforcement and correction employees will be able to apply for funds at the college through this grant to cover tuition for courses they take at UCCC.

"The purpose of this grant is to provide an incentive for local law enforcement and correction personnel to upgrade themselves and their professions by taking college level courses," Dr. Erbstein said. "with the public being the ultimate beneficiary of these programs."

The college plans to offer Police Science and Correction Administration curricula starting next September. Dr. Erbstein said law enforcement and correction personnel interested in these fields will be able to start taking some required courses on a part-time basis at UCCC in the spring semester which will start Jan. 30.

Priorities for tuition grants will go to presently employed police and correctional personnel desiring in-service training, but it is expected that some funds also will be available for persons desiring pre-service training to go into these fields.

Among the courses toward which the tuition grants can be credited in the spring semester are Freshman Composition, Fundamentals of Speech, Man and the Biological World, General Biology, General Chemistry, General Psychology, Developmental Psychology, Psychology of Adjustment, Introduction to Social Work, Principles of Sociology, The Family, Criminology, Social Problems and Inter-Group Relations, Health and Physical Education, Humanities electives, Technical Writing, The Negro in America, Social Psychology, College Preparatory Mathematics and College Mathematics.

The college now has about 15 students already working in the fields of law enforcement and correction, and Dr. Erbstein expects the grant will increase this figure appreciably.

by the Ulster County Savings Bank as teller and consultant in the Savings Bank Life Insurance Dept.

Mrs. Brinnier will serve as county publicity chairman for the 1969 campaign. She has been active in many phases of Heart drives for the past five years as well as serving as Heart Fund chairman for the Township of Saugerties and county publicity chairman for the past four years.

Both Kittle and Mrs. Brinnier are Heart Association board members.

Chipp expressed his appreciation to Kittle and Mrs. Brinnier for their continued volunteered services for the cause of "Heart."

Chipp also reported that last year the national Heart Fund totaled about 37 million dollars, which, even in these days of inflation, may sound like a lot of money. But is it? Measured against the size of the problem — a complex of diseases responsible for 54 per cent of all deaths, with 25 million victims in this country — it seems very small.

He continues, "When equated to a national population of 197.2 million, it comes out to a shade less than 20 cents per person.

In actual fact, the 416 million Heart Fund dollars contributed through 1968 represents an investment of less than $10 per family."

"This investment," he continues, "has probably yielded one of the greatest returns of any in history. It has made possible research programs speeding virtually every advance in cardiovascular medicine over the past 20 years. Equally important are its programs of education and community services, which bring the benefits of new knowledge to everyone."

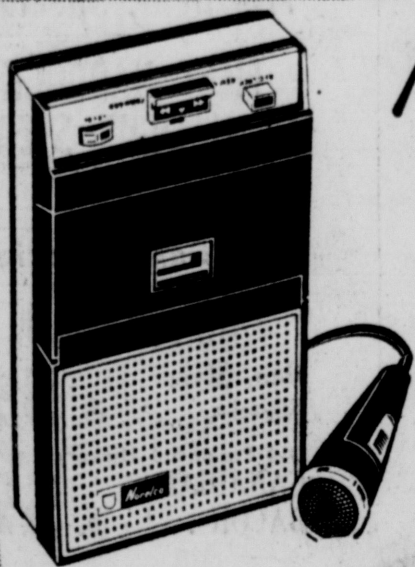

"Since 1950, the year massive research studies were begun with Heart Fund and tax dollars, the overall cardiovascular mortality toll for persons aged below 65 years is down 18.4 per cent."

Chipp concluded that "this record warrants continued support of your Heart Fund. The need to intensify the fight is vital. Please give — so more will live."

The Heart Fund Drive for the County of Ulster will be continued throughout February, with an all out concentrated effort during the week of Feb. 8 through 16, which is designated Heart Sunday Week.

Coast Guard Rescues Deer

SAUGERTIES — The Coast Guard came to the rescue of a doe deer stranded on the ice in the Hudson River near Saugerties Lighthouse.

Five men of the Saugerties Coast Guard Station at Light-house Drive were involved in the rescue Tuesday. They hailed a passing tugboat and Engineer Larry Roth and Seaman Thomas Spiak lassoed the deer and hauled it aboard the tug. At the Coast Guard Station the deer was dried off and turned over to Saugerties Town Police officers.

Chief Charles P. Riley and Deputy Chief Herbert Hommel took the animal to the Henry Kamp farm where it was held overnight and released today.

Other Coastguardsmen involved were BMC Howard Pepper, Fireman Michael Gritzke and Seaman Nat Oliver.

Public Hearing In Gardiner

GARDINER—There will be a public hearing on sub-division regulations, road specifications, and amendments to the trailer ordinance on Jan. 14 at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the Gardiner Fire House.

Cut State Spending

(Continued From Page 1) spending increases, he explained, is that over the years the state has devised aid formulas that mandate larger and larger outlays annually. The situation has reached the point where the built-in increases are outstripping the ability of the state's tax structure to produce supporting revenue, he said.

This year, he noted, the aid formulas require $700 million in additional spending, while normal growth in revenues is expected to produce only $495 million.

Rockefeller said it was obvious that the formulas must be changed so that the state's obligation "will be within the competitive capacity of the state" to pay for the programs.

Meanwhile, he said, he would recommend no new programs requiring major expenditures.

Rockefeller provided only the broadest outline of his fiscal plan saying he faced "mandatory, obligatory and vital increases" in the budget totaling $1.19 billion and could finance $570 million from normal revenue growth and through bond borrowing. That left a $620 million gap, which he proposed to fill through the combination of the sales tax increase and the economy cut.

He will spell out details in his annual budget message, which he is to present on Jan. 21.

On the other subjects, Rockefeller made these comments:

two-year-old Taylor Law, designed to prevent strikes by government employees, had proved to be "not a perfect instrument," in view of last year's strikes in New York City and by state mental hospital employees. He said he would send a special message later recommending changes in the law.

Vietnam Aftermath — He will set up a special committee to help veterans of the Vietnam war to readjust to civilian life and to assist workers who might be affected by cutbacks in military spending.

Consumers — He will propose steps to protect New Yorkers from arbitrary cancellation of automobile insurance, from unscrupulous door-to-door salesmen and mail-order firms and from unfair treatment by credit-rating bureaus.

Education—A special commission is being set up in conjunction with the State Board of Regents to study the quality and financing of public and private education in the state. He also expressed hope that a workable plan could be devised for decentralizing administration of New York City's sprawling school system.

Perry B. Duryea Jr. of Montauk, Suffolk County, was set for election as speaker of the Assembly, while Assemblyman Stanley Steingut of Brooklyn beat out Moses M. Weinstein of Queens for the post of Assembly minority leader.

Assault Case Is Adjourned

ELLENVILLE—The case of Robert Lee Reid, 36, of 25 Chapel Street, this village, was adjourned until Jan. 21, last night by Justice Ronald Elias.

Reid faces charges of second degree assault stemming from a New Year's Eve quarrel during which he is accused of having stabbed an Ellenville man in the back of the head.

He is also charged with public intoxication and was released by village police after posting $210 in bail.

Allen Mansfield, the man Reid is accused of stabbing, was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital where seven stitches were required to close two wounds.

Still Critical

POUGHKEEPSIE — A spokesman at St. Francis Hospital here today said that the condition of John Mayo, 52, badly burned in a house fire Saturday, remains critical. Mayo was admitted Saturday after fire swept through his 129 North Hamilton Street house, where he lived with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Wells. She was not at home at the time of the blaze. He suffered severe facial burns and smoke inhalation and has been on the critical list at the hospital since admittance.

Health Care Parley

George J. Habernig, district manager of the Kingston social security office announced today that a regional conference on health care costs will be held in New York City on Jan. 9-10.

This meeting is one of a series of regional conferences announced by Wilbur J. Cohen, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. The purpose of the conference is to bring together a representative group of leaders of the health community, the insurance industry and consumers and purchasers to approach the problem of rising health care costs through the stimulation of experiments and innovations in the financing and delivery of health care services.

DAR Honors Mrs. Russell For Fifty Years

Mrs. William F. (Eliza Lash) Russell was honored recently with the presentation of a 50-year certificate of membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution. The certificate was signed by the President General Mrs. Edwin Freese Heimes, State Regent Mrs. James Edward Clyde and Chapter Regent Mrs. Lewis Gaylord. A 50-year pin was also given Mrs. Russell as a gift from the Saugerties chapter.

Mrs. Russell has had a long and active career as a member of the Saugerties Chapter DAR, having joined Oct. 12, 1915. During her more than 50 years service she has been chapter regent five times, vice regent, chaplain, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, registrar, historian, and librarian. Mrs. Russell was also elected president of the state DAR organization, and was state historian and state chairman of historical sites.

Locally Mrs. Russell has written an account of the 50-year history of the local chapter and has helped to trace the papers and ancestry of many of the local members. She also formed a group of Children of the American Revolution.

In receiving her 50-year certificate and pin Mrs. Russell said, "Fifty years of service sounds like a long, long time, but I enjoyed every minute of it. I was always proud of my DAR membership and my service to it for home and country. I would like to pay tribute to our early charter members whose loyalty inspired me in my work."

Mrs. Russell's sister-in-law, Anna M. Russell is the only surviving charter member of the Saugerties chapter, having become a member in Oct. 1901. She now resides in Syracuse.

Finally it will discuss new judgeships with regard to how the candidates were chosen.

Also on the agenda is a brief wind-up of the league's discussion topic, constitution-making procedures in New York State. Saugerties league members will also participate in a "brainstorming" session, during which they will offer suggestions for state programs for a two-year period. This first round of program-making will be held by all local leagues in New York State, after which suggestions will be evaluated by the state board, and the most popular topics will be submitted to local leagues for

A spokesman for the club told The Freeman that Derbyshire will speak at 8 p.m. at the Kirkland Hotel, Jan. 15. His presentation will be preceded by a cocktail hour and dinner, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

William Fox

William T. Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Fox of Olivebridge, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps during graduation ceremonies at Quantico, Va.

Candidates for the Officer Course are drawn from colleges and universities throughout the nation and from the enlisted ranks of the Corps.

The ten-week course concentrates on individual responsibility as a leader and on tactical control and employment of small combat units.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Technology, who was presented Monday along with two other men tabbed by Secretary of Defense-designate Melvin R. Laird as civilian secretaries of the Army and Navy.

Stanley R. Resor was a surprise reappointment to the Army job. Former Rhode Island Gov. John H. Chafee, a one-time Marine, was picked to replace Paul R. Ignatius as secretary of the Navy. Seamans, who succeeds Harold Brown, made it clear from the outset he thinks space activity should be a major part of the Air Force.

"There are clearly requirements for a strong space program," the graying, 50-year-old Seamans told newsmen. "My prime objective," he said, "will be to develop equipment for national defense and my emphasis will be on whatever kind of equipment will be most suitable for the mission at hand."

He avoided getting into specifics but did mention that a major facet of the Air Force space program is the Manned Orbiting Laboratory project. Originally the MOL program of

was to have launched a team of astronauts into orbit for 30 days this year. But money cuts and engineering problems have pushed the schedule for the first manned launch to 1971.

The Air Force has spent billions of dollars on space-related projects in recent years. Although the attitude during the long tenure of former Secretary of Defense Robert S. Mc-Namara appeared to be that the United States should move cautiously toward military use of outer space.

Air Force officers expect Seamans will bring to the Pentagon a range of scientific knowledge that will equip him to press the Air Force case for an acceleration of space projects.

Seamans was deputy administrator of NASA from December

1965 until January 1968 when he returned to a professorship at MIT, located at Cambridge, Mass.

Some portray Seamans during the NASA assignment as the technician, the working man who handled details on the Gemini and Apollo orbital shots while James Webb served as NASA's administrator was the front man.

Many Lawmakers Hopeful of Electoral Shifts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite defeat of an effort to change the vote of a maverick presidential elector, many congressmen remain hopeful for some electoral reform this year.

"Electoral reform is inevitable in the first session of the 91st Congress," Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen said Monday after the resolution was defeated 229 to 169 in the House and 58 to 33 in the Senate.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, who cosponsored the resolution with Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., said the debate did not reassure him of chances for specific change.

Hopeful Despite Pessimism

But, he told a news conference, "I'm hopeful despite my pessimism."

O'Hara said he thought Monday's debate ultimately would help promote reform.

"This demonstrates the need for reform of the electoral system," said O'Hara, who announced he will shortly introduce a proposed constitutional amendment. He did not say what reforms it will embody, but he is on record in favor of direct presidential elections.

The resolution was prompted by Dr. Lloyd W. Bailey of Rocky Mount, N.C., who voted for George Wallace, even though President-elect Nixon carried the state. Only rarely has an elector voted counter to the popular vote in his state.

Official certification of the electoral vote was held up over two hours while the House and Senate debated the challenge separately.

They reconvened the joint session again in the House chamber after defeating the resolution and heard results announced as Nixon 301, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey 191 and Wallace 46.

Although the resolution failed, many who voted against it spoke in favor of a reform.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., opposed the resolution but said the fact that "such an inequity could occur provides a compelling argument" for electoral reform.

Muskie noted that despite the sentiment for reform, the difficulty lies in getting agreement on a specific reform. He said about 500 proposals have died in Congress.

The man who started it all—Bailey—said he was "delighted Congress had the courage and integrity to uphold the Constitution and their oath of office."

GEORGE E. RADCLIFFE

Radcliffe New Head Of Templar

George E. Radcliffe was elected commander of Roundout Templar, at its annual meeting Saturday night in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, succeeding Robert W. Avery.

Other officers elected were Arthur J. Jansen, generalissimo; Joseph P. Caulfield, captain general; Robert W. Avery, senior warden; William D. Markle, junior warden; Donald J. Bowra, prelate; Paul E. Jones, treasurer; Fred L. Van Deusen, recorder; Schuyler E. Weidner, standard bearer; John Barrett, sword bearer; Helmut Musal, warden; Sidney E. Friar, sentinel; Edward C. Hearn, organist; Allan M. Dumas, captain of the guard.

Norman Swibold was elected trustee for three years.

Arthur J. Jansen had charge of the election and the tellers were Allan M. Dumas and Otto H. Scherrieble.

The annual reports were read which showed that the Commandery had enjoyed an active and successful year under the leadership of Robert W. Avery, the retiring commander.

The newly elected officers will be installed at a public installation ceremony Saturday night, Jan. 18 by Sidney E. Friar, grand captain general of the Grand Commandery of the State of New York. Following the meeting refreshments were served in the dining room by the ladies of the commandery.

$299,140 Due For County in Welfare Monies

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt recently announced the distribution of $299,140 in welfare funds for Ulster County for January. The Ulster amount is part of the total $36,560,000 welfare funds to 63 districts in the state.

An additional $52,113,650 was handed over to New York City for the first half of the month to meet anticipated welfare demands.

Dutchess County was given $189,870 for the month.

The monies represent approximately 80 per cent of the Federal and State share of the anticipated welfare expenditures by the localities.

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., FEB. 1, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

ONE out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have tripled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous World Mutual Extra Cash Plan that Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you are hospitalized.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week—beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, World Mutual's Extra Cash Plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00—or even $5.00. Your low price is just $1 for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then continue at World Mutual's regular low insure-by-mail rates.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of this World Mutual $100.00-A-WEEK Hospital Plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance in any other companies! Spend the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctors' bills, mortgage payments—or any necessary but costly extras not fully covered by usual hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why World Mutual developed low-cost Extra Cash protection that helps you pay hospital costs or other expenses!

You get your $100.00 per week—from your first day in the hospital, and as long as you are confined there, even to a maximum of 2 years, if necessary. And, when you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, World Mutual pays out an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE CASH BENEFIT. You receive not $100.00, but $200.00 a week. Your spouse receives not $100.00, but $200.00 a week. That's $400.00 in all, in cash payments to you every week while you both remain in the hospital—to the full maximum of 2 years!

For older folks—greater protection than you ever would have thought possible!

Right now, would advancing age prevent you from getting hospital insurance, or income protection with another company? Or if you could get a policy elsewhere, would you have to pay a big premium for it? Your "life saver" could be this World Mutual Extra Cash Plan—because World Mutual welcomes folks of all ages into its Plan. Even if you're 65 or over, even if you're OVER 100—each time you go to the hospital you collect $70.00 a week for the first 13 weeks, and a full $100.00 weekly while continuously hospitalized thereafter...to a maximum of 2 years!

Guaranteed renewable for life.

And you can count on World Mutual's wonderful protection no matter how old you get or how many times you collect from us. It is written into your policy that we cannot cancel your PAYS to a maximum of $10,400.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital.

PAYS to a maximum of $10,010.00 CASH when you're 65 or over—at the rate of $70.00-A-WEEK for the first 13 weeks, and a full $100.00 weekly while you remain in the hospital thereafter (for 91 more weeks if necessary) ... in addition to whatever you collect from Medicare.

PAYS to a maximum of $41,600.00 CASH when both husband and wife are hospitalized at same time for accidental injury, for as long as both remain in the hospital—at the rate of $400.00-A-WEEK.

PAYS to a maximum of $2,000.00 CASH for complete accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

PAYS $100.00-A-WEEK CASH for each pregnancy ending in a hospital stay, when both husband and wife are insured for entire pregnancy and have Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits.

PAYS to a maximum of $6,240.00 at the rate of $60.00 A-WEEK when a child is hospitalized for accident or illness (with Coverage for Children added to the basic plan).

NO age limit—no medical examination required—no salesman will call.

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT TO A MAXIMUM OF $10,010.00 IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with the World Mutual Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them? Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or health insurance you may have in any other companies. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, World Mutual pays you $70.00 a week for the first 13 weeks and a full $100.00 weekly while continuously hospitalized thereafter...to a maximum of 91 additional weeks, if necessary! You can receive to a maximum of $10,010.00 for each new illness or injury when hospitalized!

protection after you've made a lot of claims, or become old—or both. It is GUARANTEED RENEWABLE FOR LIFE! (Of course, if deception is used in making application the policy may be ineffective.)

And that's not all. Suppose you have a growing family—This World Mutual Plan (FWNL 19-968) ...

... Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits when pregnancy results in hospitalization.

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that pays cash direct to you to help pay all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured for the entire period of pregnancy and have added Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days—as long as necessary—you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement to a maximum of 2 years!

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits...you get all this:

Added cash benefit: A maximum of $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check of $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of readjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose Coverage for Children (with or without Maternity Benefits) and all your dependent, unmarried children from ages 1 month through 18 years will be covered, too! World Mutual pays to a maximum of $6,240.00 at the rate of $60.00 a week when your youngster goes to the hospital...for tonsillitis, appendicitis or any other illness or injury. Yes, you will receive $60.00 a week cash, week after week while the child is in the hospital—even to a maximum of 104 weeks!

We pay your premiums when you are not able.

To safeguard family security—if you (the person to whom the basic plan is issued) are hospitalized just 8 weeks or more, all premiums for you and all Covered Members of your family that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by World Mutual! And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 180 days, World Mutual will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHICH COME DUE WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL—TO A MAXIMUM OF 2 YEARS per confinement! This means you pay no further premiums while you are still hospitalized for this condition, yet your full protection remains in force!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON.

Only $1 for First Month—Money-Back Guarantee.

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only one dollar! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Extra Cash Hospital Plan must be mailed on the convenient Enrollment-Application NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date shown.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your World Mutual policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; where care is in a U.S. Government hospital; pregnancy, except if provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy... during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will even be covered for the condition after the policy has been in effect for only 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is covered immediately!

How can $1 buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But World Mutual can now provide you and your entire family with tax-free Extra Cash Protection for just $1 the first month. How? Because we enroll a large number of people at one time—direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone—and the savings are passed on to you!

Make your decision carefully.

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensable doctor, surgical and nursing services that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your doctor bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

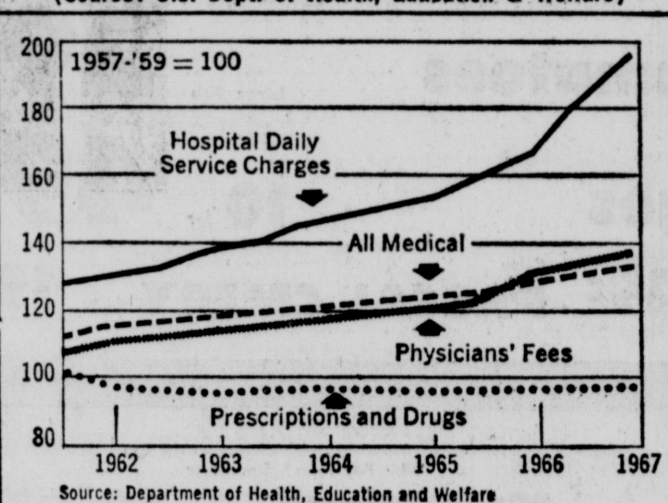

Why you must act before the deadline date shown on your Enrollment-Application—just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance policy—only a few days? Because we must receive your Enrollment-Application the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive your Enrollment-Application. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then—show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still—show it to your own insurance man... even though he may very well be working for another company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere—at any price!

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

(Source: U.S. Dept. of Health, Education & Welfare)

Source: Department of Health, Education and Welfare

Govt. figures reveal your present health protection... may no longer protect you against today's rising medical costs! Don't leave your loved ones defenseless! Act at once to add coverage that provides to a maximum of $10,400.00 health protection for only $1 for the first month for entire family.

Money back guarantee—in case you change your mind.

Even after you mail your Enrollment-Application below... even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish... even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days and your dollar will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind...you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes". That's right, you will be covered all this time for any accident or illness which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection.

Here are the wonderful low rates.

The following rate chart shows how little it costs after the first month to cover yourself, your spouse, and any adult dependents. Each person must be 16 or over, and pays (per person) the rate shown for his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
16-44	only $3.45
45-49	only $3.95
50-54	only $4.45
55-59	only $4.95
60-69	only $5.95
70-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

Only $2 more covers all your dependent, unmarried children

...from the ages of 1 month through 18 years. And then, if you wish, just add $1 more to that, and you're completely covered for Maternity Benefits too! Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost! The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now—"later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your Enrollment-Application into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. The sooner you mail your Enrollment-Application, the sooner your protection starts. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 19 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell us how World Mutual's EXTRA CASH HOSPITAL PLAN gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
$100.00 per week—to the full maximum of $10,400.00 cash. (If you're over 65, you collect to a maximum of $10,010.00 cash benefits on top of whatever Medicare pays you. $70.00-a-week for first 13 weeks, and $100.00 weekly while you remain continuously hospitalized afterwards, for a maximum of 91 additional weeks!) You collect cash not just for yourself, but for all covered members of your family when they are hospitalized! And you collect cash even if you're in the hospital for only one day!

2. When do I collect $2,000.00 extra cash for accidents?
We pay you $1,000.00 extra cash for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye, and $2,000.00 extra cash for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes—even if the loss occurs as long as 3 months after the accident.

3. What if I am hospitalized by the same illness—again?
You still collect your $100.00-a-week extra cash to the full maximum of $10,400.00. You need only to have resumed full normal activities for just 180 days—then if you are hospitalized for the same illness you collect all over again.

4. If I receive more money than my total medical bills—do I keep the "extra cash"?

You certainly do! We always pay you the full $100.00-a-week—all the way to the maximum of $10,400.00 cash. And even if your bills add up to just part of that amount, you still keep every dollar of the extra cash—tax-free! That's why this policy's called an extra cash plan. It's perfectly possible under this plan for you to come out of the hospital with extra dollars you can use for bills, rent, or anything else. And if you already have some health or hospital insurance—all the better for you. Because we pay you anyway, on top of what they pay you! On top of Blue Cross, Major Medical, Workmen's Compensation, or whatever insurance policies you have in other companies!

5. Do you pay me cash even for my children, too? And...for my "future" children?

You collect $60.00-a-week cash anytime your child goes to the hospital, when Coverage for Children is added to basic plan. A maximum of $6,240.00 each time any dependent, unmarried child (ages 1 month through 18 years old) is sick and in the hospital. And if you have a growing family—as soon as your newborn child's one month old, he too is covered—automatically...at no additional cost to you.

6. Will you pay me $100.00-a-week cash—even for Pregnancy?

Yes! Many health plans don't cover pregnancy. But we do, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits is added to the basic plan. You collect maximum cash benefits of $10,400.00—for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)

7. Are there times I might collect as much as $20,800.00...as much as $41,600.00?

There are! Remember, we pay cash not just for you, but for every covered member of your family. So if you or your spouse are hospitalized more than once...or even both of you more than once...or if a child gets sick or has an accident—you could end up collecting $20,800.00 or more! And that's not the whole story. World Mutual gives policyowners an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE-CASH BENEFIT. If you and your covered spouse are both in an accident and go to the hospital at the same time...World Mutual pays you $400.00-a-week tax-free cash. This amount is paid for as long as both of you remain in the hospital at the regular low World Mutual rate! That's why you can collect up to a maximum of $41,600.00—to pay for doctor and hospital bills and other expenses resulting from one accident alone! We hope illnesses and accidents don't strike your home—but should something happen, isn't it reassuring to know you're so well protected?

8. Can I spend my cash benefits any way I please?

Yes! Spend the money any way you choose. Use it to pay your hospital, doctor, and nursing bills. Use it to pay for rent, food, clothing. Or put it in the bank to replace any income you lost during your hospitalization. All cash comes straight to you (not to doctor or hospital unless you request it) so you alone decide how it is to be spent!

9. Must I pay taxes on the money you send me?

Certainly NOT! Every dollar we send you is 100% tax-free.

10. Am I ever allowed to stop paying premiums during a long stay in the hospital—yet still remain fully covered?

Yes, you are! All premiums that come due after you—the person to whom the basic policy is issued—are in the hospital just 8 weeks or more...do not have to be paid! Yes, even if you are in for months, a year, or longer! We pay all premiums for you, and for all covered members of your family, too, while you remain hospitalized. You aren't expected to pay us back either.

11. How can you give me so much—for so little?

Because you buy your policy directly from the company. You don't deal through middlemen. You eliminate costly processing charges and "red tape" that are added into the cost of most insurance. That's the reason why World Mutual can provide you with exceptional high-savings health insurance protection, including a full month's coverage for your family for only $1!

12. How do I go about making a claim?

We invite you to contact CASH BENEFITS HEADQUARTERS direct. Whether you want to make a claim, or just ask us a question, don't hesitate to contact us. As a World Mutual policyowner, you are entitled to prompt, courteous and direct attention at all times...and you will get it!

13. Because World Mutual costs less...do I get less protection?

Absolutely not. You get more! $100.00 weekly cash payments for a maximum of 2 years for each hospital stay. And that goes for all covered members of your family. Yet all you pay to put this policy in force for one month is...$1. And if you want, continue this protection afterwards at the regular low World Mutual rate! That's why we urge you—for your own satisfaction—to compare these big cash benefits with any comparable policy issued by any other insurance company...anywhere.

14. Now tell me what's the "catch"—what doesn't my policy cover?

Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your policy covers everything except conditions caused by (a) war or act of war; (b) mental disorders; (c) where care is in a U.S. government hospital; (d) pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and (e) any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy—but even this last "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for only two years. Everything else is definitely covered.

15. Will you cancel my policy if I make too many claims? Or because of age?

No—positively not! We don't care how many claims you make. How often you collect from us—how old you become. Your low rate will never be raised and your valuable protection will never be canceled for these reasons...because a GUARANTEED-RENEWABLE-FOR-LIFE clause has been written into your policy. The only way your rate can be adjusted, up or down, is if rates are adjusted on all policies of this type throughout your state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)

16. If I'm hospitalized less than a week—do you still pay in full?

Yes! We pay you every day you're in the hospital. There's no "waiting period" before you start collecting.

17. What are the requirements to enroll in this Extra Cash Hospital Plan?

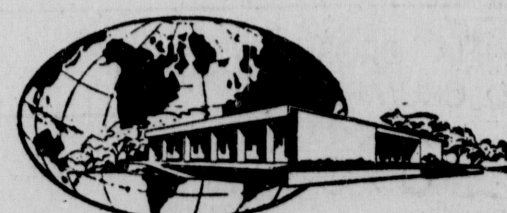

You must not have been refused or had canceled any health, hospital or life insurance due to reasons of health; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date shown in the Enrollment-Application.

18. Besides saving money—are there any other advantages of joining World Mutual during the enrollment period?

A very important one is that you don't need to complete a regular application—just the brief Enrollment-Application in the corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no extra requirements for eligibility, and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!

19. How do I enroll?

Fill out the brief Enrollment-Application and mail it with just $1 for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: The World Mutual Health and Accident Insurance Co., 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia Pa. 19154.

Dover Plains Branch of OEO

Considerable Progress in 'Experimental' Operation

By SHANE CROSBY

DOVER PLAINS — Gus Rhoades has had more than his share of lumps in three years here as head of the Dutchess County Committee on Economic Opportunity (DCCEO) branch. But, Gus—short for Augustus—is sure that not all of the hard knocks have gone for naught.

He has seen the original staff dwindle from 30 to two and is now trying to get used to his third executive director.

He has also seen budget cuts, "bad publicity," disgruntled town officials, disappointed volunteers, irate businessmen and case histories that have gone from bad to worse.

Despite the bleakness of the DCCEO past, Gus Rhoades feels that after three years of what he considers "experimental" operation, there is progress.

"They (the public) know that we are here," he told a visitor recently. Progress has moved from "poor, to very good," to "great" in some areas of poverty assistance in the county, according to Rhoades who said one town supervisor told him two years ago that the committee could look for "no programs in (his town) as long as I'm here."

He said that same supervisor has put his "OK" on a plan for assistance to poor families since.

Covers 17 Towns

Rhoades covers 17 towns and more than 700 square miles from his Dover Plains Rural Opportunity Center. His staff is back to the maximum number allowed due to new recruitment of volunteers and he and his staff travel the county by car and station wagon in an effort to "make local people solve their own problems."

Local control and local acceptance of are the major factors in Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) programs in county, Rhoades contends, saying this is the only way the program can progress.

Leyden New Boss

His new boss, Stanley Leyden, who began last week as executive director of DCCEO, emphasizes the same factors for success, opposed to over-control by Federal or regional offices.

Leyden, a Harvard graduate with a law degree from Fordham University, moved to the Dutchess post from directorship of the Ulster County Community Action Committee. He replaced John Murray who resigned to accept a regional OEO position.

Leyden joins Rhoades and his co-workers in "one of the best" economic opportunity groups in operation, assures the Dover Plains director. Listing the DCCEO assets, Rhoades notes a Board of Directors that is "conscious and demands results."

"They're not asleep," he says. Speaking on the problems of the individuals he is attempting to help, Rhoades puts transportation, rural development, housing and job placement and training at the top.

To that list he adds the personal problems of family break-ups, deserting breadwinners, chronic alcoholism and feelings of alienation from the community. There is also a problem of mental retardation throughout the poverty community, according to Rhoades.

Citing a few cases, Rhoades says a good example of the "void" they are working in is a health clinic given to Dover Plains some six months ago. About 180 physicals were given in a two-day period by the office, with little publicity or notice beforehand. He calls this considerable and adds that "TB showed up" in a few cases at the clinic.

To combat the poverty problem in what Rhoades calls "the Harlem Valley" of Dutchess County, he points up the need to establish more Rural Opportunity Centers in the hardest hit areas.

This would allow closer work with the people and avoid what has been called "a hit and miss operation" by some. These "sub-stations" would be run by community groups and would include day care facilities for workers' children as well as activity centers for adult assistance.

Employment of the border line poverty cases with an emphasis on rehabilitation would be the next step for Rhoades.

"You can't just toss a man a pay check," he says. Most of the poor are "better off" on welfare than on pay rolls, contends the director who says as soon as a man goes off welfare and on a pay roll he is liable for his past debts.

"The first thing you know, they have garnished his salary and he is worse off than ever."

Poverty Like Alcoholism

On top of that problem he cited the case of a man given a job in a Dutchess County school system only a week ago who was fired after three days for being one-half hour late. Rhoades said he had to do some "hard talking" to school officials to allow the man back on the job, saying it was the first time the man had been expected to be any place at a specific time.

"Poverty is like alcoholism," he says. "You don't just walk away like a new man." Self-confidence and feelings of "a place in society" are just two of the problems that face the residents of "Harlem Valley" as they attempt to rejoin the self-sufficient. The director says most of the people he sees suffer from a chronic depression and lack of individuality.

Follow-through by his office and possibly subsidies while the new worker adjusts are two ways he advocates it be done. "Something must be done to help them through the transition."

To be Feted Jan. 25

The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Kingston, will retire from the pastorate after 31 years of service to the local church, Jan. 25. He and Mrs. McVey will be honored at a testimonial dinner to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on the Rev. Mr. McVey's 79th birthday, on that date.

The Rev. Mr. McVey was born in the village of Athlone, County of West Meath, Ireland and was baptized in the Episcopal Church of Ireland. His father was an officer of the Royal Irish Constabulary. After attending schools in Ireland, he came to this country and attended Bloomfield College and Seminary in New Jersey, Columbia University, and Northern Theological Seminary in Chicago, Ill. Before he was ordained, he worked for the Thomas A. Edison Company in New Jersey. He was an avid soccer player and organized a recreational program and soccer league for the employees.

The Rev. Mr. McVey was ordained in 1928 by the Presbytery of Morris and Orange in New Jersey. His first post was assistant pastor to the Rev. Dr. Harmon McQuiken of the First Presbyterian Church of Orange, N. J. In 1928, he became pastor of the Freedom Plains Presbyterian Church in Dutchess County. On Jan. 23, 1938, he became pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Kingston and began an association to last 31 years.

During his years in Kingston, the church has increased its membership and the budget has more than tripled. A mortgage on the church school was burned during the Rev. Mr. McVey's pastorate and his leadership expanded the organizations of the church. A residence next to the church was purchased for the church school and a parking lot was added.

He also held several important positions in the North River Presbytery. These included two successive terms as moderator; chairman of the committee on pensions, chairman of the ministerial relations committee, and chairman of the committees on Christian education and examination.

The Rev. Mr. McVey has been very active in the community. He served two terms as president of the Kingston Ministerial Association, and for 14 years was chairman of its radio committee. He served with distinction for 10 years on the local draft board; is a member of the Union 11 Masonic Lodge, F&AM and has been a member of the Kingston Kiwanis Club for 14 years. He is a senior chaplain of the A. H. Wicks Engine & Truck Company, Inc. and Protestant chaplain of the Kingston Police Department.

Mrs. McVey has also been active in her church and community. She has taught Sunday school for all of the years of her husband's pastorate and has been a member of the senior choir. She is noted for her beautiful flower arrangements in the church sanctuary every Sunday. She has taught arts and crafts in the Kingston and Poughkeepsie YWCA's and the Catskill and New Paltz High Schools. She is a member of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, New York State Federation of Women's Clubs and Sorosis. She is also a member of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary serving as buyer for its gift shop.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McVey have two children, William J. McVey Jr. of New York City, who formerly was nationally prominent as the "Christian Herald Singer," and Dr. Wilma McVey Evans of Cleveland, Ohio. The McVey's have eight grandchildren.

All of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McVey's friends may attend the testimonial dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel Jan. 25. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Chester Baltz, Mrs. Harry Flowers, Mrs. Robert Lane or Mrs. Simon Lawrence, before Jan. 18.

Area Officials Give Advice to Veterans

The following is from the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, located in the County Office Building.

Charles Culver, state counselor and John Tyler, local director, give advice to veterans in the areas concerning insurance, income questionnaires and GI insurance.

Rumors of a special VA insurance dividend are unfounded. Erroneous information circulates throughout the country and the state from time to time that a substantial dividend is payable to veterans. A special dividend was paid back in 1950 to about 16 million veterans and totaled about three billion dollars. However, that was 18 years ago and very easily forgotten by many of those who received it. Dividends are automatically paid on participating policies on their anniversary date each year for those veterans who still hold such policies. Don't listen to rumors — contact this office for verification on "rumors" about insurance and veteran and dependent benefits.

Don't forget to complete and return your annual income questionnaires if you received one with your Nov. pension check. The deadline is Jan. 15, 1969 — but by completing and returning it now you will be sure it reached the VA in time to have the new increased rate included in your Feb. 1 check. Failure to return the questionnaire could result in loss of pension checks in the months ahead.

The grace period for GI insurance premiums has not been extended. It continues to be 31 days from the premium due date. However, the VA has extended the period for acceptance of late premiums from 45 to 61 days from the due date. Since the grace period is not extended, there is no insurance coverage between the end of the grace period and the 61-day cut off date for filing a timely premium.

The Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

sleep on board each night. It sounded pleasant and not too strenuous. The ship would do all the work. But it is not to be that way at all. It will be two months, flying from place to place. Each time when the passengers could be unpacked and stowed away, a week or so ashore at different hotel, they will have appropriate points, and a good to learn a new routine for hot water, maid service if any, and what not; they will also have to unpack and pack, pack and unpack each time they make a stop. A week at several points will be their longest stay; mostly it will be for two or three days. Being of a practical, not to say anxious turn of mind, I wonder when the laundry will get done.

It is of course a wonderful thing to see Delhi, Karachi, Bangkok, Hong Kong, the Philippines, and all sorts of strange places to which most people, including me, have never been. The mysterious East is colorful, alluring, crowded with people, and maybe a bit smelly here and there. No matter. It will be a fascinating trip. I am not, however, hankering to go along. When I expressed these hesitations to a friend, he said: "Watch it! People will say you're getting old."

If the truth were told, I am. Travel, even under the most comfortable circumstances, has not the charm for me that it once had. The first time we went to Paris we stayed in a Left Bank hotel with a bathroom down three floors. In London we lived in lodgings; the bath was in the basement and you had to remember to light the geyser in plenty of time so the water would be hot. It was great fun and we enjoyed every minute of it. I even enjoyed washing out the underwear every night. Now if I travel I want it to be first class all the way. Since this is unlikely, I am just as happy staying home. Nor am I the only person who feels like this. I had a little talk with the husband who, with his wife, is embarking on the two-months flight mentioned above. "A ship would be better," he said, "but it would take too long. The truth is, I'd rather be here at home, but Mary thinks we must go." When they get back, after it is all over, there will be innumerable colored slides of the marvels they were privileged to see. We also shall see them, sitting in their living room, snug, comfortable, with perhaps a glass near at hand. Not a bad way to travel either, when you come right down to it. Although young folks who go everywhere these days would scorn the idea.

Give Your Bald Eyes 40 Lashes

JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Kenneth, the man who became internationally famous with his magic tricks with a lot of hair, is now transforming women into beauties a few hairs at a time.

He has turned his attention to eyelashes. Not the usual twin centipedes which band the upper lids with a band of false-ness, Kenneth's system is beauty a carefully placed lash at a time.

He has added to his beauty line a new product called Forty Lashes. From the foot long strip the wearer can cut away the lashes into single hairs, or doubles and triples, to be placed where they will do the most good.

If the outer eyes tend to droop, a woman can lift the corners by applying lashes to the outer sides.

Sparse lashes can be thickened by applying single lashes intermittently along the lid.

Large, prominent eyes with single lashes applied sparingly take on new importance with the enigmatic overtones.

To balance the length of the upper lashes, Kenneth feels a woman should accept her bottom lashes. Too often women draw a heavy line under the eye with liner which in effect closes up the eye. Single lashes applied to the lower lid bring the lashes into proper proportion while emphasizing the eye with a luxurious fringe.

Single lashes should be snipped apart with cuticle scissors, leaving a base. Using tweezers, the base should be dipped into eyelash adhesive and placed over natural lashes when applying them to the top lid, and under natural lashes when applying them to the bottom lid.

The trick is not to blink for a few seconds it takes the adhesive to dry.

THE FASHION SHAPE UP for Spring 1969 is nice and easy. In the Mignon collection, designed by Dorothy Barba, there are two daytime looks — a red and navy printed dress and jacket costume (L.) and a solid red skimmer with narrow white cuffed sleeves. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Making the Clean Scene

It's big-bright-and-modern in 1969! Laundry aids have kept the fast pace with new designs in appliances and new developments in textiles. Today's soaps, detergents, water conditioners, brighteners, blueings, bleaches, fabric softeners, sizing agents, soakers and finishes are scientific formulations designed to do a complete and thorough job in the care and cleaning of all washable fabrics and fashions. They're available in powders, liquids and tablets — in boxes, cans and bottles — in squeeze-type, aerosol and pre-measured containers — in mini, maxi and in-between sizes — a really big scene to choose from!

Today's modern detergents are such a familiar part of the laundry scene that it is easy to forget they are comparatively new products. At the end of the last century, bar soap was still being used to do all the household laundry and much of it was home-made! When washing machines came into general use, women had to use melted soap or cut and shred these bars into small pieces until manufacturers soon began to produce commercial granules. As time went on, formulas were improved to make more efficient soap products and to provide more variety.

Freshen Up Your House Plants

Have your house plants taken on a tired and dingy look? Then what they need is the same thing you need when you look tired and dingy! A good soap and water bath! Dust, soot, and fireplace ash are bound to deposit a film on the plant's leaves, and it will stay there and collect more dust unless you literally wash it off. Veteran gardeners know the merits of an occasional bath for house plants and have various methods of giving it. Probably the easiest way is simply to cover the dirt in the pot with waxed paper, and swab off each leaf with a sudsy sponge. Gentle handling, of course, is very important so the plant doesn't get bruised. Rinse each leaf carefully. Some people are so expert in handling plants they can tip them upside down into a pail of sudsy water without breaking off any new growth or otherwise harming the plant. But unless you are that skilled, better try our method. Ours takes longer, but it is fool proof.

Fourth Quarter Burst Spurs Onteora, 62-55

NEW PALTZ — Big Bob Klementis came up with four tap ins and a host of key rebounds in the fourth quarter here Tuesday night, to lead undefeated Onteora High School over homesteading New Paltz 62-55.

The Indians, "not very sharp" after the Holiday layover, in the words of their coach Rod

Patrick, trailed by five going into the final frame when "the big boy really came through."

"They surprised us," Patrick said. They gave us a much better ballgame than we had expected and we were very flat.

I guess it was just too big a layover for us. We didn't even scrimmage and we weren't very sharp at all.

The Huguenots came back from a four point first period deficit to tie the game at the half. Forcing Onteora to shoot over their tough zone, they led by five after three quarters and by seven with 6:50 left in the game.

Then New Paltz missed a layup and Onteora clicked three straight times to shave the Huguenot lead to 52-51. And then the roof fell in.

If foul trouble throughout the second half, first Tom Manee and then Dane Barr committed number five and the benchless Huguenots slowly saw the game get out of hand.

With two minutes to go the score was 54-51 in Onteora's favor — it never got any closer as the Indians outscored New Paltz 20-8.

"It was real close until the last couple of minutes," Patrick said. They were in foul trouble early, and we were shooting one and one for most of the second time around."

The six foot-seven inch Klementis, who received his early instruction under Jack Gilligan and his staff at Kingston, transferred to Onteora as a junior last year and spent the season riding the bench for former coach Wes Kimmell.

They're a real good ballclub," Patrick said. They have a beautiful zone and we had a tough time working the ball in against it. We're going to have a rough time with them the next leffort in that last quarter, especially off the offensive backboards."

Steve Kimmell led the Indians with 16 points, Klementis had 13, Marty Gahan 12 and Paul Pettinato 10. Bob Lynch notched 16 for the Huguenots to tie Kimmell for game high honors.

Bruce Koenig had 12 and Barr scored 10 before fouling out. Onteora, still in first place in the Ulster County Athletic League hosts Highland Friday while New Paltz takes on cellar dwelling Walkill.

Marist Edges Kings In Double Overtime

POUGHKEEPSIE — The Marist College basketball team waited for 40 minutes of regulation time and one full overtime period before finally breaking loose in double overtime to down Kings College of New York City 105-103 here Tuesday night.

Trailing by one point with less than a minute to play, the Red Foxes knotted the contest at 84 on Bill Spenla's foul shot. Kings stalled during the next 41 seconds before taking a shot that went wide at the buzzer.

Marist jumped out to a three point lead in the first overtime period, but Kings, sparked by Jim Bergholtz who had 45 points on the night, came back to tie at 91.

In the second overtime period, however, the Foxes ripped off six straight points to lead 103-97 and this time the deficit was too much.

Ken Thompson was high man for Marist with 23 points, Ray Manning had 22 and Spenla 21.

In other area action, Dutchess County Community College, led by a 19 point performance from former Poughkeepsie High School ace Richie Lawrence, rolled past Hudson Valley Community College 85-74.

DUSO title favorite Newburgh Free Academy, led by Larry Frazier who scored 23 of his 26 points in the first half and Gay Powell who came up with a 21 point performance, highstepped past Beacon 87-65.

10-Game Streak Ends

Illinois Cagers Learn Rick Mount a Bit Rocky

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

Rick Mount may have to climb to another peak if he hopes to retain his Big 10 basketball scoring title this season.

The Purdue flash led the league in scoring with a 29.7 average as a sophomore and he hasn't lost his touch with a year's growth. Mount scored 37 points Tuesday night to lead the Boilermakers to a 98-84 upset over previously unbeaten Illinois.

But Rudy Tomjanovich, another junior and a definite threat to usurp Mount's scoring championship, enjoyed the greatest night of his career with a record-tying 48 points as Michigan outlasted Indiana 89-87 in overtime.

Tomjanovich's total equalled the school record set by Cazzie Russell in his last home game in 1966.

Purdue jumped to a 16-7 lead and built it to 32-18 on its home field at Lafayette, Ind. The Illinois, unbeaten in their previous 10 games and ranked fifth nationally, fought back to a 42-38 halftime deficit and actually moved ahead at 51-49 early in the second half.

Stay in Front
A field goal by Mount and two more by George Faerber put the Boilermakers ahead again, 55-51, and they didn't trail thereafter. It was the ninth success in 12 tries for Purdue, which is 2-0 in Big 10 play. Illinois' league record is 1-1.

Although Tomjanovich dazzled an appreciative crowd of 10,833 at Ann Arbor with his marksmanship, including 21 field goals, he was upstaged in the end by substitute Bob Sullivan, whose two free throws with 10 seconds left in the overtime provided the winning points.

Michigan now is 2-0 in league competition and 8-3 overall while Indiana dropped its second conference game in as many starts.

The only other member of the top 10 to see action Tuesday night was Davidson. The fourth-ranked Wildcats surged in the second half to defeat St. Joseph's of Philadelphia 83-69.

Hauer High Man

Center Mike Maloy and forward Jerry Kroll scored 20 points apiece for Davidson, which led by only 32-30 at halftime. The Wildcats now are 9-1. Game scoring honors went to Mike Hauer of the Hawks with 28 points.

Bob Cousy, the former professional great, reached a milestone in his coaching career when his Boston College squad defeated the University of California at Irvine 95-79. It was the 100th coaching victory for the one-time Boston Celtic backcourt star.

In other games Tuesday night, Providence shot 60 per cent in the first half and went on to surprise St. Bonaventure 70-59; Kansas State dumped Nebraska 95-72 behind Jerry Venable's 29 points; Michigan State upended Wisconsin 77-67 for its first Big 10 triumph of the season; Bob Tallent scored 41 points to lead George Washington to a 92-74 victory over Furman; and L.C. Bowen's field goal with four seconds left gave Bradley a 68-67 triumph over Memphis State.

Platoon Football Safe Another Year

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The NCAA, with a move to switch to single platoon football now apparently a dead issue, winds up its 63rd annual convention today. A new president is scheduled to be chosen today.

Walter Byers, the NCAA executive director, plans to hold a convention-concluding news conference late in the afternoon and review the three-day meeting.

There was strong opposition at the convention to the move to do away with two-platoon football to reduce the cost of athletic programs.

The actual decision on unlimited substitution lies with the Football Rules Committee, which meets at Palm Springs, Calif., next week, but there isn't much doubt that body will go along with the NCAA feeling.

The one-platoon proposal was advocated by the Pacific Eight Conference.

At Tuesday's session of the convention, the Astrodome at Houston was approved as the site of the 1971 NCAA basketball finals. The Los Angeles Sports Arena was picked as the site for the 1972 finals.

The University of Houston will host the 1971 finals March 25-27 and the University of Southern California the 1972 finals March 23-25.

The Executive Committee and the University Basketball Tournament Committee announced approval of the sites.

Also disclosed were the sites for the opening round of the 1969 tournament beginning March 8. They were:

North Carolina State University, University of Rhode Island, Southern Illinois University.

MIM Cagers Lose

MJM School cagers dropped their basketball opener to Newburgh South 39-37 after leading at the half Tuesday. Jim Ferraro (9) and Chuck Jackson (8) led MJM. Ed Valentini hit 11 for Newburgh. MJM hosts the Miller school Friday.

Texas Christian University and New Mexico University.

Louisville, Ky., is the site of the 1969 finals March 20-22. That previously was announced. The sites for the 1970 regionals will be:

East, University of South Carolina; Midwest, Ohio State University; Midwest, University of Kansas; West, University of Washington.

Also disclosed Tuesday was the establishment of a National Gymnastics Commission, an organization which will have five members on the United States Gymnastics Federation and the AAU.

The USGF, which is allied with the NCAA, had been feuding with the AAU.

Sawyer Matmen Upend Rondout

Saugerties put together three pins and three decisions to gain victory.

The fastest Sawyer pin came in the 135 pound class when Frank Myer, who is blind, swiftly took care of Steve Chatham at 1:40. Lee McMahon and Wayne Snyder got the two other Sawyer pins.

A bright spot for Rondout was Tom Coddington's fifth straight win in the 115 pound event. He decisively won over Carr 10-3. Rondout, now 3-2, travels to Pine Bush this Friday.

Ulster and Westchester Vie for Mid-Hudson Lead

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor
Ray Lindhorst is fit and ready (good news); Larry Trippodo has been elevated to starting status (surprise) and Jerry Moss will not start (big surprise!). Those are some of the ingredients embellishing Ulster County Community College's o'clock at the municipal auditorium. The Senators are 9-2 overall, Westchester 11-1. Coached by Ralph Arietta, a "must win" for UCCC. Coach Westchester has lost only to Perry said this morning he had not made up his mind beyond the first four starters—Trippodo, Lindhorst, Marshall O'Neil and Gary Kirkwood.

Pough or Larrier

The fifth starter will be either Tony Pough, the holiday festival MVP, or Jesse Larrier, the coach indicated. Trippodo is no major scoring threat with his modest 4-point average in eight games but Perry has been impressed by his "good shooting and hustle in the practice sessions."

Lindhorst, a consistently fine rebounder and scorer in recent outings, came out of the Manhattan CCC debacle with only a slight bone bruise in his right leg. It should not deter him to night.

The steady decline of Moss, the early season scoring sensation is a mystery in the UCCC camp. At the end of seven games, he was averaging 21.3 with a high of 30 against Marist. In his last four games, Moss has accounted for only 46 points, while committing several tactical blunders and getting into early foul trouble.

"I think we can beat them," said Perry, "but they have fine personnel and it won't be easy."

Watch Washington

Among the Westchester stars who will bear a lot of watching tonight is Steve Washington, a 6-4 former Wingate High School (NYC) scorer and rebounder who is hitting a 23-point clip.

Ronnie Braia, who potted 30 points in one game against UCCC last season, is back and in top form. He has an uncanny fallaway shot. The defensive specialist is Brian Davidson, a 6-foot guard, who is ostensibly coming to town to work 1-on-1 on Moss, who won't be there, at least not at the start.

Comparative scores which are usually useless and misleading reveal a hefty statistical advantage in UCCC's favor. Westchester edged Dutchess 88-86 at Poughkeepsie and Rockland 88-83. The Ulster scores against those opponents — both at the auditorium — were 122-91 and 108-77, respectively.

Westchester edged Concordia Junior by 8 points, UCCC did it by 19. The visitors most impressive outing was a 103-56 romp over Sullivan, a team Ulster toppled 90-53.

Coach Perry also figures Westchester has a revenge motive going.

"They haven't forgotten the 150-77 drubbing we handed them in our second meeting in Kingston last season," he pointed out. "We beat them 83-56 at Westchester after they pulled a slowdown and held us 25-23 at the half."

"That made our boys mad for the second meeting," he recalled.

It would appear that the Senators had better be angry young men again if they hope to prevail tonight.

Pete Zeeh and Joe Scott Beaten in Concord Finals

LAKE KIAMESHA—The crack Westchester County brother tandem of Bill and Chris Tully defeated the strong Kingston combine of Pete Zeeh and Joe Scott, 7-5, 7-5, in the men's doubles finals of the annual USLTA-sponsored indoor tournament at the Concord Hotel.

Both teams were in peak form for the finals, having won three previous matches against some of the strongest competition in the east.

Scott and Zeeh relied on strong services and forcing volleys to overcome a series of highly rated opponents. Zeeh also advanced to the finals in the men's singles where he bowed to Ron Johnson of Fort Wayne, Indiana, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

Zeeh, who is rapidly gaining a reputation as one of the area's finest players, had to overcome

Brian Burger of Philadelphia to reach the final round. Burger is a junior Davis Cup player with national ranking in that classification.

The tournament was conducted last weekend at the magnificent four-court indoor tennis complex at the world famed Concord. The winter meet annually attracts a class field from the eastern part of the United States.

The Concord tourney launched what promises to be a busy season for Zeeh, who is reigning Ulster County singles champion and shares the men's doubles and mixed doubles titles. Zeeh is scheduled to participate in the First Annual Dr. Samuel Simon Memorial Tournament which gets underway Friday at Hopewell Junction.

The crack field at Hopewell includes Dave Bonner, one of the top ranked Eastern players.

Bulls Check Knick Streak

CHICAGO (UPI)—Tom Boerwinkle had a career high of 22 points Tuesday night to lead the Chicago Bulls to a 102-101 win over the New York Knicks in a National Basketball League game.

The loss ended a 10-game New York winning streak. It was the Bulls' sixth win in their last eight NBA games.

The Bulls set the pace in the first half, earning a 58-51 lead at the intermission, before the Knicks rallied, behind the sharpshooting of Walt Frazier and Willis Reed to tie the count in the final period.

Out Chicago rallied in the closing minutes as Boerwinkle, a 280 pounder, cleared the boards and contributed two baskets and two free throws to keep Chicago in front.

It was the Bulls' second win over New York in four games, but only the fifth loss for the Knicks in their last 25 games.

In other NBA action, Los Angeles Lakers stopped the Baltimore Bullets 100-93; Milwaukee topped Cincinnati 116-101; Detroit edged Philadelphia 117-114; San Diego topped San Francisco 113-108 and Phoenix won over Seattle 116-112.

In the American Basketball Association, New York Nets surprised the Minnesota Pipers 113-101; Indiana routed New Orleans 120-108 and Kentucky edged Dallas 101-98.

SKILLFUL BEAUTY — Gertrud Gabl (R) of Austria is congratulated by Annie Famose of Switzerland after she won special slalom event at the 31st International Ladies Ski Races at Grindelwald, Switzerland. Miss Famose came in 2nd and Kiki Cutter of the U. S. was third. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Austria's Gertrud Gabl Hikes World Cup Lead

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland, (UPI)—Austria's charming Gertrude Gabl proved Tuesday that she is the world's top slalom skier by scoring her second victory within four days on the current European alpine ski circuit.

The 20-year-old Austrian clocked the fastest time in both heats to win the special slalom of the 31st ladies ski races at this winter resort by a wide margin from Annie Famose of France and Kiki Cutter of Bend, Ore.

Miss Gabl, who won on the special slalom at Oberstaufen, Germany, last Saturday, also increased her lead in the World Cup standings. She now tops the ratings with 70 points ahead of Miss Famose, who has 46 points, and Miss Cutter, who has 44.

Although the very treacherous first course cut the field of 86 competitors down to 36, Miss Gabl said she liked it. "I admit that the steep section was hard and icy, but I liked it and have no complaints," she said.

The Austrian flashed through the 60 gates in superb style, clocking 43.94 seconds, half a second faster than Miss Famose, who had a time of 44.45 seconds.

The Austrian was a full second faster than her main rival on the 54-gate second course, clocking 43.62 for a total of 87.56 seconds.

Miss Famose, fighting desperately to give the French ladies their first triumph of the current circuit, clocked 44.70 in the second run for an aggregate of 89.15, but was easily beaten by Miss Gabl.

Miss Cutter retained her position as the best American by fighting her way back to third position after trailing fifth after the first leg. She had fourth place with 89.71 seconds.

It's All Blue In That NHL

By United Press International
One needn't look any further than the nets to see why the St. Louis Blues are making a runaway of the Western Division race in the National Hockey League.

Rotating two prize-winning but time-worn veterans, Glenn Hall and Jacques Plante, the Blues have produced the best goaltending of any team in the league. Plante, who returned to hockey this season after a three-year retirement, and Hall have won the Vezina Trophy eight times between them and are well on their way to capturing it again in a joint effort.

It was Hall's turn Tuesday night as he handled 36 Los Angeles shots to help St. Louis gain a 5-0 shutout over the Kings. It was Hall's fourth shutout of the season compared to five for Plante in just 38 games.

Half of the Blues' 18 victories this season have come on shutouts and their total of 78 goals allowed is 13 fewer than the next best mark, turned in by Boston. The Vezina Trophy is awarded to the team which allows fewest goals during a season.

Gary Sabourin registered a goal and two assists and Red Berenson notched his 20th goal of the campaign for the Blues, who stretched their first-place lead to 14 points over Oakland.

The shutout was the third in a row suffered by Los Angeles, including two scoreless ties. The first was inflicted by Plante and the Blues last New Year's Day.

It was a night for front-runners as the Montreal Canadiens ripped the Minnesota North Stars 6-3 in the only other contest played. Yvan Cournoyer scored two power play goals for the Canadiens, who increased their lead in the Eastern Division to three points over idle Boston.

Liberty Edges Ellies on Mats

ELLENVILLE — Liberty High wrestlers built up an early lead and held off Ellenville in the upper weights to post a 22-20 victory over the Blue Devils in a DUSO Village wrestling match.

Ellenville's Bill Young and Doug Mayer stayed unbeaten at 167 and 177 pounds, respectively, but couldn't get a pin, both winning by 3-0 decisions.

Fallsburg Tops KHS on Skis

WOODRIDGE — Despite Bart Dutto's first place slalom finish for Kingston High School ski team, the Fallsburg's Comets squeezed past the Maroon 271.75 seconds to 275.85 seconds as both teams launched their first season of DUSO league competition in the sport. The meet took place at Big Vanilla, formerly Davos Ski Center, where Dick Darnnton set up a thirty gate slalom for the event.

Dutto won the slalom race in a time of 52:45, but coach Chuck Keiser's Comets swept five of the next six slots as Bob Connolly took second in 53:15 and brothers Andy and Joel Feldman followed in third and fourth position with times of 53:60 and 54:20, respectively.

The Fallsburg girls did not participate, giving the Kingston girls their first win of the season. Sally Goffredi put on a superb performance in taking a 55:00 sec. first place. Nancy Pauker was second in 72:90.

Team scoring is based on the added times of the first five finishers on each team, with the lowest total winning, so Fallsburg actually won by only 4.1 seconds.
Kingston's next meet is Thursday at Monticello another DUSO league opponent.

Hospitalization Coverage for 5 Gardiner Highway Dept. Employees

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

GARDINER—This township's five highway department employees will be given a hospitalization plan covering themselves and their families for the new year.

They will receive the benefit instead of a raise in pay, as in previous years.

The action was taken last night during the first regular meeting of the town board in 1969.

The hospitalization plan is similar to that which covers state and county employees and is offered to townships and municipalities having less than 25 employees to be covered by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

During the next regular meeting in February, James Carpenter, an agent of the Metropolitan Life will explain the plan to the highway department employees.

One of Sharpest Cuts

Supervisor George Majestic announced at last night's convocation that the tax rate for the town has gone down $25.34 per $1,000 of assessed valuation of property.

The reduction, it was reported is one of the highest in Ulster County.

The Gardiner board, in other action, agreed to pay approximately $100 to $125 for an aerial map of the township.

The money will be taken out of Gardiner Planning Board funds.

The scale of the map will correspond roughly to 400 feet per inch.

It was pointed out that both New Paltz and Shawangunk have such a map.

The board went on record as noting its "displeasure" at the delay in establishing a car-crushing site in Kingston.

Supervisor Majestic said he hoped the board of appeals would act favorably on the measure.

Noting that the state law on junk cars called for a $100 a week fine for each week that two or more cars remain on individual property sites, the board ordered that a letter be sent to the Association of Towns to learn how the order was to be carried out.

Even though the request was to be mailed out, some board members voiced the assumption that the state police would act as the policing agency and would move on the complaints of individual citizens.

It was further noted that while firms in Ulster County allegedly continue to blow soot into the air through their smoke stacks, the new law against open burning (in effect since Jan. 1) prohibited home owners from backyard rubbish burning.

The board went on record as ordering letters to be sent to State Senator Jay P. Rolison and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell that they do "all in their power" to see that the state law be amended to allow individual household owners to burn their rubbish in their yards.

A letter was received from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beatty, Gardiner farm owners, stating that they intended to build a "vacation campsite" at the intersection of the Wallkill River and Shawangunk Creek.

It was noted that the campsite area would come under the Gardiner trailer camp ordinance.

A good part of the meeting was devoted to reorganization for 1969 and in this there were no changes over 1968 except that Mrs. Jane Stokes was named clerk of the court.

It was announced, however, that $10,000 of tax collected monies would be deposited in Wallkill's Valley National Bank if the bank paid the same interest rates as the State of New York National Bank.

Highland

HIGHLAND—Lloyd Rod and Gun Club held its annual election of officers at the clubhouse on Clearwater Road, Tuesday night, John Valentino, who has served as president for three years, has indicated that he will not seek reelection this year. Plans for the year will be discussed and refreshments will be served.

The United Presbyterian Women's Association of the Highland Church will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Chris Dohman, Grove Street. The Rev. John T. Burns will install the new officers. Mrs. Chester Cole and Mrs. William Wilkoff will serve as hostesses.

Who's to Blame for Kids?

Well, you are dead wrong. It takes only one strong deter-

Also, Abby, please tell your readers that there is no better way in the world to learn how to live without alcohol than at ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS. I really didn't want to quit off my back, and here I am, ANYBODY can.

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY JANUARY 9, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Unless you pay heed to warnings, requests — there is difficulty. Don't force issues where mate, partner are involved. One who is ill may say things which are based on pain, irritation.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Not easy to change routine — but necessary today. If you hang on to outmoded methods, price is high. Know that sentiment doesn't mix with progress. Relative who whines is fooling you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You wanted excitement — tonight you get it. Emotional impact of decisions is strong. Opposite sex is involved. Children make demands. Your energies are pulled to and fro — maintain balance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Social activity increases. Entertain at home. Show appreciation to one who has backed you. Includes parent, older person. Know that you owe — and be willing to pay debt.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are drawn between desire to change, travel — and feeling that you are needed at home. Make intelligent compromise. Morning hours should be devoted to family. Later — take that short trip.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Study LEO message. You can't accomplish everything at once. But you can have fun — and still make progress. Take no chances where investments are concerned. Tighten purse strings.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Cycle high — but day features sudden change. Child or other loved one makes extravagant demand. Domestic adjustment occurs. You are presented news which can be described as "startling."

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): What was confined or secret breaks into open. Continue to be discreet. Changes, threats, cajoling — these need not cause panic. Others look to you as example. Be dignified, fair and firm.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Friends may appear eccentric. Not wise to reply upon promises. Back up assertions with facts — cash. Call upon individual with experience. The others are filled mostly with hot air.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Some who have much to say about your activities appear uncertain. Realize one phase is over, another about to begin. Don't hang on to outmoded concepts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Activity centers around travel, long-distance communication. Future indications are accented. Means what occurs now is subject to change. You get news which stimulates and encourages.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): If you choose to argue about money you pay consequences. Day to utilize tact. Applies especially where legal documents, finances are concerned. Don't push.

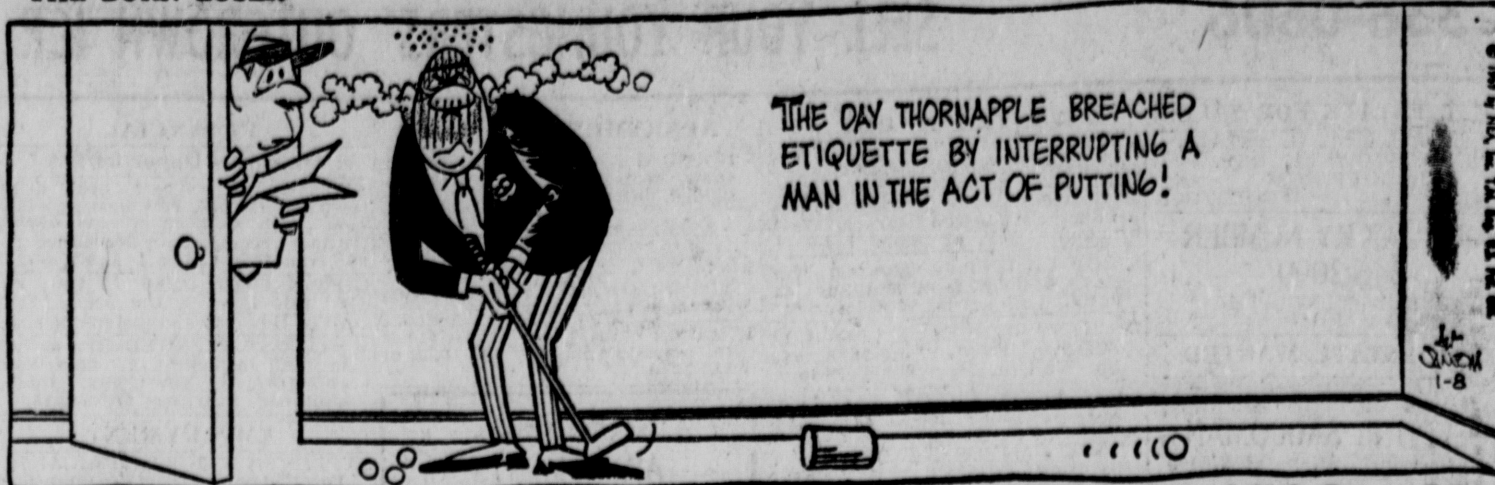

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you attract others with their problems. You are a counselor. People depend upon you during a crisis. Cycle now is powerful; much money involved and you can draw success.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Breakup of marriage, partnership makes news. On international front — pact between nations is torn apart. Nixon and His TV Victory

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The day was July 19, 1962, and Richard Nixon turned up as a mystery guest on the NBC-TV daytime panel quiz show "Your First Impression."

And if there is any doubt in your mind that the president-elect is a man of singular purpose, consider some of the answers he gave to questions that day.

First it should be noted that at the time he was a defeated presidential candidate, having been beaten in 1960 by John F. Kennedy.

Now he was running for governor of California against Edmund G. Brown, a race in which he was to be defeated again.

On the NBC-TV program, like this: "The one person in the world I'd like to meet is . . . friend."

Nixon responded: "The president."

The host, Bill Leyden, said that in a practice exchange backstage, he had posed a sentence starting: "My one regret is . . ."

And Nixon responded: "That I wasn't assigned to a PT-boat."

President Kennedy, of course, had been a PT-boat hero in World War II.

One has to admire Nixon's tenacity in trying to master the television medium through years despite some unfortunate early appearances.

His televised debates with Kennedy may have cost him the presidency in 1960, and on some other notable occasions the career.

Yet any man who hopes to be a vigorous, communicating president in the electronics age simply has to work at being effective on television—and Nixon has done that.

Confidence Now

He has not appeared on many network shows in recent years, but when he has—on either news or light entertainment programs—he has demonstrated distinct improvement.

His off-the-cuff, informal introduction of his cabinet in television prime time not long ago proved beyond a doubt that he now has confidence in handling the medium that once almost finished his political career.

Give to the world the best you have, and the best will come back to you.

Lecturing his son on thrift and hard work, the father said, Mr. Price (the father) — Son, when I was your age I carried water for a gang of bricklayers. Young Eddie — I'm proud of you, dad. If it hadn't been for your spunk and perseverance, I might have had to do something like that myself.

Weather predictions have an accuracy rating of 87 per cent. Mother began washing the face of her four-year-old son and he put up a strong fight. Mrs. Black (his mother) — But you know I have to use soap and water to get you clean. Young Tommy — Why can't you just dust me?

A frantic housewife called the doctor. "You've got to come over immediately. When my husband got up this morning, he took his vitamin pill, ulcer pill, tranquilizer pill, anti-histamine pill, appetite depressant pill, and added just a dash of benzadrine. Then he lit a cigarette and there was this tremendous explosion!"

The latest acquisition of some large, computer-happy companies is said to be a super-duper computer which does nothing but check on other computers and report their errors. It's called the "Unifink."

A young doctor queried a veteran physician: Young Doctor Lee — why do you always ask your patients what they had for dinner? Older Doctor Black — It's a most important question, because I make out my bills according to their menus.

Is there any difference between a level headed guy and a flat headed guy?

Hanoi Not Budging on the Table

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam said today it will not reconsider its refusal to accept American and South Vietnamese procedural proposals for an early opening of the Paris talks on Vietnam.

A North Vietnamese spokesman said there was no chance Hanoi would listen to a U.S. appeal and adopt some of the seating arrangements put forward by the United States. "All these arrangements aim at making the conference a two-sided issue. As we already have said, this is unacceptable to us," the spokesman said.

He thus shrugged off an appeal Tuesday by Cyrus R. Vance, deputy American negotiator, that North Vietnam reconsider its refusal to study and adopt one of the six shapes for the negotiating table—the main obstacle blocking the parley.

The Hanoi official said his delegation and the National Liberation Front (NLF), the political arm of the Viet Cong, continued to insist on seating arrangements making the conference clearly appear as a parley of four equal parties.

The spokesman said that no arrangements have been made so far for a new secret bargaining session between the Hanoi and American delegations.

GI '68 Toll 15,000

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—An American fighter bomber riddled by Communist ground fire crashed into an U.S. artillery base killing three persons and injuring another, military spokesmen said today. Two barracks burned and a dispensary was scorched by the flames.

Communist gunners disabled the F4 Phantom jet while it was on a bombing mission Tuesday and it plunged into the fire support base eight miles from Saigon, the spokesmen said. Two American soldiers and a Vietnamese civilian were killed and another civilian was injured.

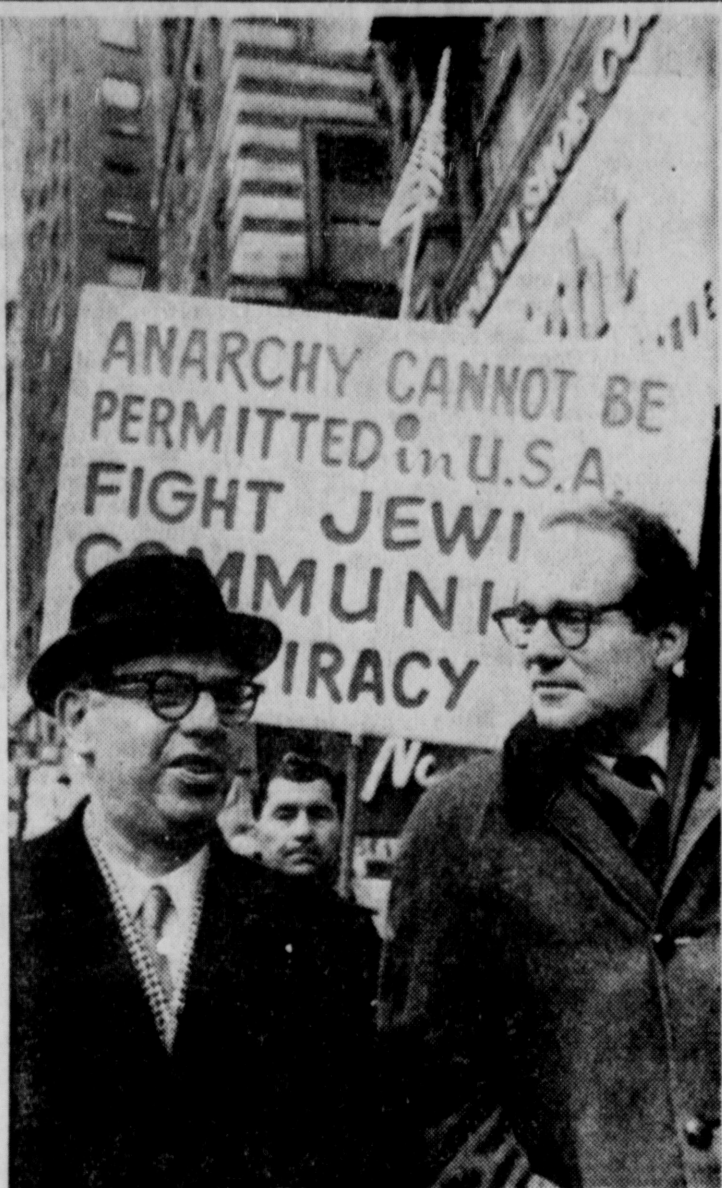

The pilot and copilot ejected safely. The pilot was unable to land the aircraft after it developed a hydraulic fuel leak. In Saigon, government sources announced South Vietnamese armed forces casualty figures for 1968, and they were the heaviest of the war. They showed 17,486 government soldiers were killed 57,718 wounded last year—an increase of 32 per cent over 1967. The increase reflected the heavy fighting of the Communist Tet and May offensives.

American losses last year included almost 15,000 killed and more than 92,000 wounded with the number of dead almost equaling losses for the first seven years of American involvement in the war.

The government report said 191,387 Communist troops were killed by allied forces in 1968 and 21,050 captured, an increase of 122 per cent over 1967.

U.S. communiques also reported the loss of two Army helicopters to Red gunners. They were shot down Jan. 3 and 5 about 125 and 150 miles northwest of Saigon and brought to 977 the number of American helicopters downed in South Vietnam. One crewman was killed and two others wounded in the crashes.

Beirut Attack Blamed

Will Accept Yafi Decision

By United Press International

President Charles Helou of Lebanon will accept the resignation of Premier Abdullah Yafi's government today, political sources said—a direct result of Israel's Dec. 29 raid on the Beirut Airport.

A newspaper article holding Defense and Foreign Minister Hussein Oweini responsible for the defense breakdown that permitted the raid brought the government crisis to a head. Oweini announced his resignation Monday and Helou and his two other ministers said Tuesday they were quitting.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli government was considering demanding a $60 million refund for the French military equipment it ordered but will not get under President Charles de Gaulle's new embargo on arms shipments to Israel.

DeGaulle Calls Cabinet

In Paris, de Gaulle called a cabinet meeting today to outline further his Middle East policies. A Paris newspaper said the president, infuriated at the Israeli raid on Beirut Airport, might recall his ambassador from Israel or announce new aid to Lebanon.

In Cairo, Egypt today praised de Gaulle's embargo on French arms to Israel as a "model" for the world. "This clips the wings of the Israelis," the semi-official newspaper Al Ahras said. Most of Israel's air force is French-built.

In Jerusalem, an Israeli foreign ministry statement said the French embargo demonstrates "a wish to have Israel's defensive capacity in its struggle against... the Arab states curtailed." The embargo, it said, "nullifies the possibility" of France "fulfilling a positive function in the Middle East Crisis."

Doubts Repercussion

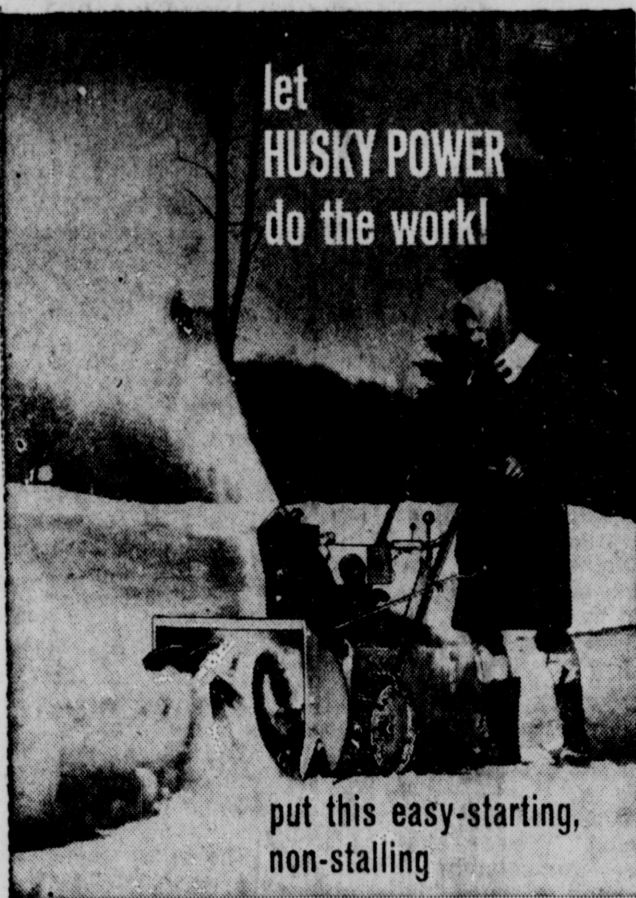

At the same time, Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol told his Parliament, "I have good reasons to believe Israel's raid on Beirut Airport will not affect this country's prospects" of receiving 50 U.S. Phantom jets in 1970.

The United States had barely sealed its agreement to deliver the supersonic Phantoms when Israeli paratroopers destroyed 13 Arab airliners at Beirut in retaliation of an Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli jet at Athens Airport.
